40% steel pay hike if inflation continues

By BILL WINTER
Editor

"It's a good package," James Kelahan of the Granite City sub-district, United Steelworkers of America, said after returning here Tuesday night from 35 days of negotiations at Pittsburgh between the union, National Steel Corp. and eight other major steelmakers.

Steelworkers local union presidents from across the nation voted overwhelmingly Tuesday, 333 to 42, for a new three-year contract effective Aug. 1. Hourly pay could rise by over 40 percent if inflation averages 11 percent a year during the life of the agreement.

Negotiations are continuing here on local issues, totaling about 100 initiated by National's Granite City Steel Division and about 120 by the Steelworkers. The target time for them to be resolved is early June.

Kelahan said yesterday the number of remaining local issues is not an impossible workload for the negotiators. But he added that the talks have been clouded by mounting proposals related to the continuous caster, a mammoth machine now being built for year-end start-up.

He said there was much progress in the national-level talks and that union members and officials also are buoyed by the condition of Steelworkers President Lloyd McBride, no longer in intensive care.

Stricken when a blood vessel on the aorta hemorrhaged, the union president was rushed to a Pittsburgh hospital where a surgeon who is a specialist in that field was able to perform immediate surgery. "He is very lucky; he was within five or so minutes of dying," Kelahan commented.

McBride headed the St. Louis district before becoming the international president. At that time, Robert F. Means was named the local sub-district director succeeding Buddy Davis, who became district director.

Substituting for McBride in the latter stages of the Pittsburgh negotiations was Vice-President Joseph Odorchuk.

With 450,000 basic steel members affected, hourly wages are to increase 25 cents the first year, 20 cents the second year and 15 cents the third year of the new contract.

If inflation averages 11 percent yearly, the average steelworker's hourly pay will rise from $9.35 to $13.65, much of the increase due to a quarterly cost-of-living adjustment formula.

The new agreement also calls for an annual increase of one cent an hour in the increments between each of the 34 steelworker job classifications. The highest ranked workers will get not only the 60 cents over the three years but another 32 or 33 cents yearly from expansion of the increments.

This change is being made to solve a problem stemming from the cost-of-living formula. The formula when applied over a long period of time tends to reduce the gap between such job classification, decreasing the incentive a worker has to accept jobs with more responsibility.

Because of the steel industry's financial difficulties and foreign competition, no change was made in the pattern of quarterly cost-of-living adjustments—one cent hourly for every 0.5 point increase in the consumer price index. There had been talk of a third-year change to 0.26 in the CPI formula.

The union agreed to forego a cost-of-living adjustment due next month,

Stormy start for school officials

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

The newly-organized Granite City Board of Education got off to a rocky start Tuesday night with two arguments and the election of one board member to two offices simultaneously. Major developments were:

—Steve Saltich was selected as the new president of the board. His current position as school treasurer does not end until June 30, so in a sense he might be in a position to sign both required signatures on district checks. Administrators said the signatures of Donald Stucke and Saltich will continue until being replaced by those of Saltich and George Moore.

—Thomas Miolsky, who was elected as the board's new secretary, unleashed an angry verbal assault on Board Member David Partney regarding Partney's campaign tactics in Saturday's school board election. Board secretary pay will continue to be $360 a year, it was decided Tuesday.

—Partney told the board he intends to initiate a lawsuit immediately against the school district to force the administration to open financial books to him on matters dealing with payment of compensation or insurance claims to district employees. Partney contended a legal ruling by the school board's attorneys denying him access to such records on employee privacy grounds is "in error."

Partney alleged later that Stucke may be covered by Stucke's wife's school health insurance policy. Partney in an existing suit opposes Stucke's presence on the board simultaneously with Mrs. Stucke's work as a school secretary.

Robert Maxwell was seated as a new board member and retiring board member Dewey Melton thanked the board for its cooperation and help during his three years of service. A plaque of appreciation was awarded to Melton.

Moore and Stucke were seated to begin new three-year board terms. Moore was selected to be the next school district treasurer.

Due to the election consolidation law which extends the terms of the current board members, the board decided to have new officers serve until Dec. 1, 1981, following the next school board election in November 1981.

The members agreed to continue to hold meetings on the first and third Tuesdays of each month at the board office, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

WEARING TWO HATS

The situation in which Saltich temporarily is both the board president and school treasurer simultaneously is the result of board policy in which the newly-elected president is seated immediately, but the treasurer begins service on July 1, when the new fiscal year begins.

Since Saltich was the treasurer and was elected unanimously as president, the overlap of jobs occurred and was brought to the board's attention by Maxwell, who asked if it is legal for one man to hold both positions.

Board members acknowledged the situation and agreed to seat Moore as treasurer as soon as new check-signing nameplates are received from the bank with Saltich's signature in the blank for president and Moore's signature in the treasurer's spot on the checks.

Superintendent of Schools B. J. Davis estimated the new check signing plates will be available by early May.

MIOLSKY'S COMMENTS

Miolsky objected to the suggested reappointment of Partney to the district's Title I Advisory Council, contending Partney had used his position on that council for political gains in Saturday's election.

Miolsky showed a letter he said Partney distributed Friday, the day before the election, which contended the Board of Education was considering the closing of the Old Logan School preschool center and busing 4-year-old children to Coolidge Junior High School. The letter asked residents to vote for Larry Melton and Maxwell, who Partney said would oppose the closing of the center.

"We did not discuss it as a board," Miolsky stated, and noted that it was simply a proposal submitted by Dale C. Rice, assistant to the superintendent, and had never been considered by the school board.

—Dale Rice submitted a report and Investigating missing street equipment

An intensive investigation is under way by Granite City police detectives into items which have been reported stolen or misplaced at the Granite City Street Department.

Some employees in the street department say they feel that unfair accusations may have been made against them, perhaps by Street Superintendent Lionel Portell.

In an open letter to Portell, Joseph E. Crider, shop steward of Teamsters Local 825, which represents street department employees, says the employees feel they "have once again been slapped in the face by accusations made by management."

Chief of Police Ronald J. Veizer told the Press-Record yesterday that an investigation is being made into the disappearance of an air compressor valued at about $1,000, and that all street department employees are being talked to by detectives. "We had four of them in today alone," Veizer said.

"We are not pointing the finger of accusation at anyone. A theft has been reported and we are investigating it," he said.

When asked if Supt. Portell had requested an investigation of the employees, Veizer said, "He doesn't have to. When we have a theft reported, we investigate it. Especially when it is city property."

In his open letter, Crider refers to the air compressor and says management is contending it was stolen by street department employees.

"We, as street department workers, feel it a terrible injustice, since the accusations are not harbored by any facts. And now, once again, the political finger is being pointed at one of many possibilities."

"The problem has arisen many times before. Again, as always, the finger is pointed in the direction of the employees," Crider states.

Examples he cited are the theft of a chain saw and the removal of a large amount of equipment from a sewer televising trailer. The chain saw later was found and the equipment from the trailer was found on city property, he related.

Both cases received publicity but in neither case was a retraction issued after the items were found, Crider contends.

The letter also states, "Mr. Portell also accused (City Attorney Lance) Callis of taking an inappropriate fee. (Portell was among a group of officials and aldermen who questioned Callis' billing for legal work done on a city bond issue that led to low-interest home mortgages.)"

"Later, the charges were found void," Crider states.

"We, the employees of the Granite City Street Department, are writing only to clear an already blotted name. As far as the present situation is concerned, we look upon each other in dismay."

"The only (word deleted) we see is Mr. Portell, who has stolen the pride and dignity away from his men. May the road rise to meet you, sir!" the letter concludes.

Veizer responded to the examples used by Crider and said the chain saw referred to was later recovered, but in someone's yard. "That doesn't mean it wasn't stolen," he said.

He also noted that if the items taken from the television trailer have been recovered, the police department has never been notified of the recovery.

City Attorney Callis became involved in the investigation as a routine matter, the police chief said. "The city attorney was consulted by our department, which is not unusual, because he would become involved in it if there was an arrest. It is his job to protect the city's interests," Veizer added.

Portell said today he is declining comment until he has read the Crider letter.

Questioning of street department employees was continuing today, Veizer confirmed.

$400,000 voted for work on 28 streets

By HARRY BARNES
of the Press-Record

A citywide street improvement program calling for the resurfacing of 28 sections of streets in six of the city's seven wards was approved by the City Council Tuesday night.

The aldermen appropriated a total of $400,000 to finance the work which will provide a bituminous concrete surface on existing street bases. The work also will include driveway repairs where needed.

Those sections of streets approved for repair Tuesday night are located in Wards Two through Seven. The engineering department reported plans have not been completed for Ward One. That program will be presented to the council later.

The report, presented by Assistant City Engineer Edward Schulze, specifies resurfacing work for:

Spalding Avenue from Stearns Avenue to Vesel Avenue, Boyle from Spalding to Vesel, Vesel from Pontoon Road to Lynch, Grand from Niedringhaus to 24th, Kate from 27th to 23rd, Washington from 26th to Nameoki Road, 27th from Iowa to Nameoki Road, 28th from Madison to Washington, 29th from Madison to Washington, 30th from Madison to Iowa.

Emery Avenue from Edgewood to Maryville Road, St. Clair from Willow to Edgewood, St. Clair from Willow to Maryville, Lynch from Maryville to Sara, Waterman from Maryville Road

Nameoki may form lighting district

The possibility of forming a street lighting district for several precincts of Nameoki Township was discussed by the Nameoki Town Board of Trustees Monday night and the board agreed to call for a public meeting Thursday, May 1, at 7 p.m. at Tri-City Park, Tabernacle, Maryville Road and Clark Avenue, to discuss the possibility.

Voters may be asked to approve a tax in the district to pay for installation of the lights and the monthly electric bills. Township Superintendent Harold Davis said street lights are needed in precincts five, six, 11 and 12, and possibly residents of precinct three may wish to join the district.

While attempts are being made to light precincts in the northern portion of the township, there is a possibility the street lights in the southern portion of the township may be turned off this month, since the State Park Street Lighting District is without funds to pay its electric bill, which is nearly one year in arrears, Davis said.

The township had been asked to release $500 budgeted to help pay the State Park street light costs this fiscal, but Davis asked the district's board to have a representative present at Monday night's town board to explain why the district is unable to pay its power bills.

No one appeared at the meeting to represent the district. A successful referendum was held last year in the district as voters agreed to pay more to keep the street lights operating. Davis said he feels the district should explain to the board why its bills are not being paid before the township releases more money to the district board.

The township board agreed to table the request for funds, until a representative of the State Park lighting district appears before the board.

Stormy start

That's all the board took it as. On Title I programs, it was part of his possible changes. We did not discuss it as a board. Then I got phone calls on it Saturday and Sunday and I had to tell the callers they knew as much about it as I did," Miosky said.

"It should never have occurred as a political issue. What was contained in the letter really couldn't be substantiated," he added.

He assured several persons in the audience that if such a plan is considered in the future, the board will ask to hear from the opponents. "If these facts lack merit, I am sure Old Logan will remain as it is. I personally do not feel they should move the pre-school program to the junior high school," Miosky concluded.

Partney responded that when Rea suggested the change to the Title I committee, "I felt it was the recommendation of this administration to close that school and relocate it. The committee did not want to relocate it." Miosky then stated, "As far as I am concerned, you should not be on the Title I committee. I see no reason to discuss this further."

Partney was reappointed to the committee, however, and Miosky voted in favor.

PARTNEY PLANS SUIT

A lawsuit will be filed in Madison County Circuit Court seeking an injunction ordering the school district to open its financial books relating to the payment of workmen's compensation claims, Partney pledged at the meeting.

He contended he was denied access to the financial records by the administration by Rea, who had consulted with Supt. Davis. Partney also contacted Supt. Davis, who told him the denial was based on the opinions of School District Attorney William Schooley and the advice of the district's insurance advisers.

Partney displayed a letter from Schooley to Davis which said a school board member has no more access to the records than a member of the general public. Matters which would invade the privacy of district employees, such as compensation claims, are protected from public inspection, Schooley concluded.

Partney said he did not ask to see employees' compensation claims, but wanted only to review the financial records dealing with workmen's compensation, since the district is self-insured and all claim payments come from the district's funds.

Partney said he contacted his private attorney and "he feels Mr. Schooley's opinion is in error. My attorney this week will file for a subpoena to look at the records I want to look at."

Partney said only one individual handles the insurance payouts and contended, "There are no checks and balances."

Board Member Monroe Worthen stated, "I think you are way out in left field. There are checks and balances." Schooley's legal opinion stated that medical claims are protected under the right to privacy of school employees. It also states, "A court can determine that the disclosure of the records is relevant to any issue after an in-camera inspection, and can set guidelines for the disclosure, protecting the right of the public to know and the right of the individual to his privacy."

CAMPAIGN LETTER

The campaign letter referred to was said to read as follows:

"A letter from your school board member David Partney. It has been one year since your strong support and help made me a member of the Board of Education. The main issue at that time centered around the closing of schools, especially our Washington School."

"The closing was too far along for me to have any effect. Now, they are considering closing another school on the west side; namely, our first-class pre-school center, known as the original Logan School."

"The plan is to bus these four-year-old children to Coolidge Junior High, where the age bracket is 13 to 14 year olds. At the pre-school, they have their own playground and recreation room. At Coolidge, it will be another crowded situation like the one they have created at Logan and Prather."

"So, I need help to fight the closing of the Logan Pre-School. I have been promised this help from two candidates: Larry Melton, a former West Granite resident; Robert Maxwell, a former assistant principal at Prather Jr. High for four years. Both of the above gentlemen understand our problems and have promised their support to keep the school open."

"We must change the board in order to stop this closing. The election is this Saturday, April 12, from 12 p.m. to 7 p.m.; you will vote at Logan School. Please try your best to stop at the polls and vote."

"P.S. We have the strong support of Alderman Lloyd Bailey and newly-elected Precinct Committeeman Joe Williams."

New Logan School, a major elementary school, is not on any lists for operational cuts.

At Logan Saturday, Maxwell led with 320 votes, Larry Melton received 289 and the other six candidates totaled 60, 77, 92, 94, 24 and 14.

REQUEST FOR DATA

Efforts by Board Member Partney to inspect the district's financial records related to health insurance and workmen's compensation insurance are to determine if another board member is involved in a conflict of interest, Partney told the Press-Record following Tuesday night's Board of Education meeting.

Board Member Stucke, who was president of the board until the reorganization Tuesday night, is covered by the district's health insurance plan, since he is the spouse of a district employee, Partney contended. He said that has been confirmed by Rea.

"If he is, indeed, covered by the school district insurance, I want to see if there are any claims for him," Partney explained.

He added that Stucke is the only board member who has a spouse employed by the district and, therefore, is the only board member on the schools' self-insurance program.

He said the issue may become entwined with a pending suit Partney has filed against Stucke, which alleges Stucke has been in a conflict of interest by voting as a member of the school board to pay school district salaries, including a salary for his wife, Mrs. Stucke is an attendance clerk.

"The shame of this whole thing is that I have to dig into my own pockets for the money to try and resolve a question which is in the interest of the entire school district to resolve," Partney said.

He said that this is the way we should handle our street program," Douglas said.

He said before and I say now we should take these different ward allotments and buy a paving machine so the city could do its own working. Doing this work by contract is costing a lot of money that we could use to improve more streets if we were doing our own work."

Douglas cast the only negative vote in approving the appropriation bill.

Woman threatened with knife on parking lot

Granite City police are searching for a man who displayed a knife in the National Food Store parking lot across from Charlie's Restaurant early this week and tried to force a young woman to open her car door and let him in the car.

The incident occurred about 2:30 a.m. Sunday, but police initially suppressed the report.

The young woman reported she left Charlie's Restaurant and walked across Namekiki Road, to a friend's car on the National Food Store parking lot.

When she got in the car alone, she noted another auto parked in the parking lot, flashing its headlights at her repeatedly.

Believing the driver was someone she knew, she waited while the other car drove beside her car and the driver walked to her car.

When he approached the driver's window, she realized she did not know the young man, so she rolled up the window of the car she was in and looked the door, she related.

She said the man appeared intoxicated or high on drugs. He begged her to open her car door for him and told her she was very pretty, the victim related.

She started the engine of her car and backed from the parking space slowly. The man walked beside her, begging her, "Please talk to me. My name is Ken. Please talk to me," she told police.

As she drove in the lot, he ran along side her car, begging her to open her door. She said, When she speeded up, he pulled what appeared to be a switchblade knife from his trousers pocket, opened it and waved it at her, ordering her to stop and open the door, police were told.

She drove at a fast speed south on Namekiki Road and the man got in his car and followed her auto closely to the 28th Street, right to Grand Avenue and to the 2700 block of Grand Avenue where she stopped at a friend's house, and ran inside.

The man waited outside a few minutes and then left the scene, it was reported.

She described the man as "in his late 20s or early 30s, about 5 feet, 6 inches tall, of medium build, having brown eyes, a dark complexion and a thin mustache."

He drove a dark green, or blue older model two-door auto, the victim said.

Extend completion date for sewers.

The Madison County Board yesterday approved a request by the special sewer committee to submit an application for a 75 percent federal grant to extend the services of the engineering firm for the new sanitary sewers in Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice townships for one year.

The board also approved a 60-day extension in the completion date for the sewer project and the sewers should be ready to be accepted by the county by the end of July, according to a letter from Engineer Ed Juneau to the Sheppard, Morgan and Schwab engineering and consulting firm of Granite City.

Juneau said difficulty in obtaining some easements for electrical service for the lift stations is the main reason the 60-day extension is needed. One woman wants $5,000 for an easement on Old Alton Road, near WGNU Radio's facilities. Morris Miles of the sewer committee, said he is negotiating with her.

Juneau said his contract with the county expires when the sewers are completed, but he feels an engineer will be needed for about one year "to work out the bugs." Copies of the suggested contract with Juneau for the one year extension will be sent to the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, along with the grant application.

Tap-ons of individual homes to the new sewers cannot begin until the county has tested and accepted the new sewers. The committee was told it will probably be August before tap-ons can begin.

Historic first piling for lock and dam Apr. 25

On Friday, April 25, one of the most important events to happen this century in the St. Louis metropolitan area will begin with the flare of rockets, the fanfare of a military band and the salute of the river boat whistles, all signaling the moment the first piling is driven into the Mississippi River for the new Lock and Dam 26," according to Charles G. Houghton.

Bi-State Development Agency executive director, Houghton will be master of ceremonies at the groundbreaking.

He expects a large contingent of dignitaries from Washington, D.C., Missouri, Illinois and elsewhere to witness the 2 p.m. beginning of construction on replacement Lock and Dam 26. President Jimmy Carter has been invited to attend, as well as the Illinois and Missouri governors, senators, representatives and other officials from throughout the area.

The public is being invited to attend the event, which will take place at the dam site on the Illinois shore of the Mississippi, adjacent to Illinois Highway 3, two miles south of Alton, along the Wood River levee.

Construction of the replacement lock and dam is a U.S. Army Corps of Engineers project.

The Bi-State Development Agency, as coordinator for the Port of Metropolitan St. Louis, will host the ceremony and has worked closely with eight local, state and federal agencies in its preparation.

A concert by the Scott Air Force Band of Mid-America will start at 1:15 p.m., preceding the ceremony. Following an invocation, the U.S. Coast Guard will present the colors and brief remarks will be made by dignitaries.

At the conclusion, a signal will be given which will alert the pile driving vessel in mid-river to begin driving the first piling.

The steel sheet piling is the first of 10,000 which will be the foundation for a temporary dam called a cofferdam to hold back the water so construction can take place.

The cofferdam will extend out from the Missouri shore 1,000 feet and downstream 800 feet, enclosing 25 acres from which the water will be removed. The first six and one-half gate bays of the new dam will be constructed on the 25 acres.

The present Lock and Dam 26, built in the 1930s, is being replaced because of severe physical deterioration and lack of adequate lockage capacity.

Because of its key location, it is one of the most important and most congested locks in the inland waterways system, with a main lock 600 feet long and an auxiliary lock 300 feet long.

Large traffic in excess of 62 million tons passes through the locks annually, creating bottlenecks which tie up river traffic an average of 20 hours.

The new Lock and Dam 26, located two miles downstream from the present facility, will feature one 1,200 foot long lock and a gated spillway with nine gates and an overflow dike.

Construction plans allow for the addition of a second 1,200 foot lock in the future if a need for greater lockage capacity should arise.

The lock and dam project will be one of the largest projects ever undertaken by the Army Corps of Engineers in the local district.

It will be built in three phases and take approximately ten years to complete. The new lock is to be operational in about eight years. Current estimated cost of the project is $530 million.

Other features of the project include a visitors' center located on the Illinois side and a recreational park on the Missouri side of the dam, in the area of Ellis Island.

Illinois Route 3 will be closed to through traffic at approximately 12 noon April 25 to allow for guest parking. Shuttle buses will be provided to take visitors to the ceremony site and return them to their cars at the conclusion of the program.

The Bi-State Development Agency functions as the coordinating agency for the seven port districts and private industry comprising the Port of Metropolitan St. Louis, the largest inland port in the United States. Bi-State's role is to coordinate activities of the port districts and authorities, perform technical, planning and engineering studies, enhance port development, and serve as an expeditor with state and federal agencies relating to river development.

MORE THAN 150 DONORS turned out for the St. Elizabeth Medical Center bloodmobile April 4. Louise Woods, an SEMC employee for 15 years, signed the papers for her donation that day, and the pint of blood she donated over the Easter weekend made her a four-gallon donor. Mrs. Woods works in the SEMC recovery room.

3 die in plane crash

Illinois State Police have released the names of three persons killed when a light plane crashed in a field near Alton Sunday night.

Killed were the pilot, James Bailey, 45, and John Ressler, 29, both of Gravois Mills, Mo., and Frank Deutsch, 11, Decatur, Ill. The plane had left the Lake of the Ozarks, where Mr. Bailey owned a restaurant in Sunrise Beach, Mo., and was taking the Dutch youth home to Decatur when the plane apparently went off course north of Springfield. Heavy snow and sleet made visibility nearly impossible and is believed to have been the cause of the accident.

Bus fare hearing in GC May 13

Charles G. Houghton, executive director of the Bi-State Development Agency, has announced that Bi-State will hold eight public hearings on a proposed bus fare increase.

"We will hold five hearings in Missouri and three in Illinois to assure that our entire riding public will have an opportunity to participate," Houghton said.

He emphasized the importance of the hearings, saying, "We sincerely want constructive input on the proposed fare structure and its implementation, and that input must come from the people we serve." The 25-cent fare is slated to become 50 cents July 1.

William J. Wilson, general manager of transit, has said that "the proposed fare increase is essential to the agency's effort to balance the transit system's budget for the 1980-81 fiscal year, and to avoid a projected $11 million deficit for that year."

Port authority OKs rail survey

The Tri-City Regional Port District Board in a meeting Monday night authorized its staff to begin an immediate survey of land and existing rail lines in the north section of the district as the first step in a plan to expand the port's rail facilities.

The plan to expand rail facilities, announced in mid-February, calls for establishment of a new rail yard that would provide storage for 150 rail cars.

Carl Ranft, port manager, said the survey will involve land in back of the A.O. Smith plant and lines of the Illinois Terminal Railroad. The survey work is expected to cost about $2,000.

Cost of constructing the new yard has been estimated at $1.2 million. Financing is yet to be arranged.

The port board also approved the installation of a natural gas line to the port office to provide gas to port tenants for heating purposes. Ranft said the line installation will cost approximately $2,000. Tenants will hook into the line for individual gas supplies. Propane gas is now used in port tenants.

A contract renewal with the Curtis Detective Service of Granite City at a 12 percent increase in rates was approved. Fees are paid by port tenants.

A proposal to buy a house now located along Independence Drive on land which the district wants to acquire, also was approved by the board. The district expects the acquisition to cost about $15,000.

Details of the dedication of the new locks on April 25 were outlined to the members.

Phone franchise change offered

A proposed change in the franchise by Granite City to the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. under which the number of business lines given to the city would be increased from 111 to 122 was referred to the City Council's Ordinance Committee Tuesday night. City Clerk Robert Stevens said that when operation of the phone system was transferred from Southwestern Bell to Illinois Bell, the value of the city's allotted business lines dropped from $74 each under the SW Bell franchise to $15 each under the Illinois Bell operation. The additional 11 lines under the proposed amendment would make up the difference in entrance service allowances given the city, he noted.

BARRETT DEEMS, a professional drummer, will be appearing at Fornasewski's Music Store Friday, April 18, from 5 to 7 p.m. He is best known for his appearance in the movie "High Society" with Louis Armstrong, Frank Sinatra and Bing Crosby. He also has been featured on over 2,000 record albums.

APA adoption set Saturday

The Animal Protective Association will hold a pet adoption Saturday from 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at 2851 Washington Ave., according to Greg Conary, APA adoption supervisor.

Conary lists animals needing a good home to include a 3-month old black Cocker Spaniel female with papers; 12 week old female Siamese cat; black declared one-year old cat; 3-month old male and 6-month old female Beagle; 6-month terrier house broken; part poodle and part terrier puppies; and a 7-month male long hair black dog.

The APA group is also planning a white elephant sale and book fair for April 26 to secure funds to further the construction of their animal shelter.

Area residents who wish to donate items are advised to call 931-5654 or 876-1436 for pickup until Wednesday, April 23. The APA group will accept household articles and books but cannot use clothing for the sale, it was announced.

Girl, 9, hit by babysitter

A 9-year-old girl residing in the 2500 block of State Street was struck in her home by her former babysitter, a 15-year-old girl, about 4 p.m. Monday.

The child said her mother was gone when the babysitter called and said she was owed money from the last time she sat. The younger girl said her mother was not at home and the former babysitter allegedly said she was coming over anyway and the money better be there.

The younger girl became frightened and barricaded the front door with the kitchen table and chairs, knowing that the former babysitter had a key to the house.

She said the babysitter used her key and forced the table and chairs out of the way. She then entered and struck the child, causing a bruise to her face.

When the babysitter left, she threatened to have the child beaten up at school and said she was going to cut all the tires on her mother's car, police were told.

Juvenile authorities were seeking the former babysitter to talk to her.

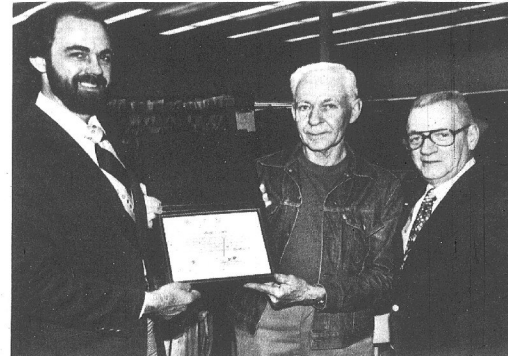

Nameoki School Spring Carnival

Nameoki School Spring Carnival will be held at the school on Friday, April 18, beginning at 5:30 p.m., according to Fran Kingston, coordinator for the annual event.

Prepare early start on downtown overpass

Granite City officials moved toward an immediate start on construction of the 19th Street overpass during a regular City Council meeting Tuesday night in which the aldermen approved plans to barricade certain streets for construction work.

In addition, Mayor Paul Schuler informed the aldermen that an agreement has been reached by which the city will acquire two pieces of needed right-of-way owned by Granite City School District 9.

Acquisition of the property will clear the way for negotiations with representatives of Sidener Supply Co. which also holds easements required by the city for the overpass project.

At the same time, City Clerk Robert Stevens reported he and Mayor Schuler plan to go to Chicago

April 28 to sign $2,500,000 worth of general obligation bonds that have been sold to Clayton Brown, Inc., Chicago investment firm, to finance part of the overpass cost.

The council concurred Tuesday night in a request by the E. Millstone Construction Co. of St. Louis, contractor for the overpass construction, to close several streets at 19th Street next Tuesday. These will include: Adams Street to be barricaded indefinitely; Benton Avenue, barricaded at 19th Street with local access only; railroad tracks solid barricade with no provisions for crossing; West 20th Street and Cleveland Boulevard, barricaded at 19th Street with local access only.

The tentative agreement by which the city will acquire the school district tracts was approved by council members, while at the same time in a meeting of the Board of Education the matter was referred to School Supt. B.J. Davis with authority to finalize the matter.

Under the agreement the city will provide trash pickups at all schools in the city, and to provide a survey of the two tracts to be transferred to the city.

These tracts include a strip of land 30 by 330 feet on the west side of the school property at 20th and Adams streets, subject to an easement retained by the school district over a railroad track spur serving the school district of sufficient width to permit movement of railroad cars, and a strip of land 175 by 34 feet on the south side of the school property at 20th and Adams streets, running east from parcel number one for 175 feet.

Mayor Schuler said this will permit the city to meet requirements of the Sidener Supply Co. in exchange for right-of-way needed by the city. The city now will be able to provide the Sidener firm with access to its property located south of the school district property.

In other action Tuesday night, the council granted authority to Mayor Schuler to write to local area state legislators in regard to actions concerning local share funding for the Bi-State Transit System.

The mayor told the council that two bills are pending in the legislature, one of which would authorize counties to levy a one-quarter cent sales tax to meet local funding requirements; the other to delay for about a year the necessity of meeting a local share requirement so that municipalities would have more time to work out arrangements to meet the cost.

He asked that the council authorize him to oppose the sales tax proposal, and to ask local legislators to work for the bill allowing a further funding delay by local bodies.

Police dispatcher sought in Madison

The Madison Police Department has an opening with the job title of dispatcher. It is a CETA-funded position, and all applicants must meet certain income and employment requirements.

Anyone interested in applying for this position may go to the local Illinois State Job Service office and fill out a Manpower application. Police Chief Donald L. Bridick said

Separate attorney will represent assessor

By HARRY BARNES of the Press-Record

Granite City Township will indemnify Assessor Von Dee Cruse against any cost damages that may result from a circuit court lawsuit and will pay the cost of an attorney to defend Cruse in the proceedings, Town Board members decided in a meeting Tuesday night.

Thirteen of the city's 14 aldermen, convened as the Town Board, voted unanimously to approve a resolution that will provide Cruse a separate attorney in the lawsuit which also names the city of Granite City and the township of Granite City as defendants. Alderman Roy Poulos was absent.

The board members were informed that it would involve a conflict of interest if Township Attorney William Schooley were to represent Cruse as an individual and at the same time represent the township in trial of the case.

Assistant City Attorney Irvin State Jr. will represent the city.

The lawsuit asking $10,000 damages has been filed by the Paul Seebold Concrete Co., and stems from remarks allegedly made by Cruse during a Town Board meeting last fall in which payment of a bill to the Seebold firm was discussed. The claim was for work done by the firm in remodeling the basement of the city hall to provide new quarters for the assessor's offices.

The resolution approved by the board provides that "The town of the city of Granite does agree to indemnify and hold harmless Von Dee Cruse for any judgment or settlement obtained by the Paul Seebold Concrete Co. arising out of the aforementioned law suit in Madison County, Ill., to pay reasonable attorney fees and court costs incurred to defend the said suit and to retain an attorney of the Town Board's choice to defend said suit."

The resolution noted that the lawsuit charges that remarks allegedly made by Cruse "were defamatory, and injured its (the company's) business esteem."

Gibson, 52, in his remarks to the more than one million members of the state federation noted growing opposition to labor proposals in state legislatures and Congress, plant closings, school problems, attacks on health and safety laws, opposition to present workman compensation rules, municipal and state officials, and prospering firms that seek to avoid or break unions.

"We need unity in labor now more than ever," he said. "We need to oppose reduction of compensation benefits. We need to prevent shabby treatment of respected and productive trade unionists who give of their time, experience and knowledge in public service."

At the installation program in the Bismarck Hotel, Chicago, AFL-CIO Regional Director Daniel J. He called for opposition to management consulting firms that help fight union organizing and representation.

Ill. use of western coal said to be hurting state

Southern Illinois stands to lose more than 9,000 jobs by 1985 if current trends away from the use of high-sulfur Illinois coal continue, according to a new study by economists.

The analysis of the impact of western coal on the Illinois economy found that more than 2,500 coal industry jobs in Franklin, Jackson, Jefferson, Macoupin, Randolph and Williamson counties could be lost by 1985 if utility companies and other major coal users in Illinois and nearby states continue to burn low-sulfur western coal instead of coal from Illinois mines. In addition, about 6,700 jobs in other fields also could be lost.

Mines in these counties produce about 33 million tons of coal a year — about two-thirds of all coal mined in Illinois.

On the other hand, the report concluded, an immediate return to previous high consumption of Illinois coal by customers in Illinois and surrounding states could boost personal income in the state by more than $400 million by 1985, increase state revenues by as much as $20.3 million, and cut expected welfare payments by almost $9 million.

The analysis was made by economists at SRI's Coal Extraction and Utilization Research Center for the Illinois attorney general's office.

Researchers concluded that the benefits of switching back to Illinois coal outweighed the potential financial and environmental costs of such a move. They said the switch should be made as soon as possible in order to reap the highest benefit.

It was concluded that a quick resumption of large-scale use of Illinois coal by utilities and other industries would result in some short-term damage to air quality in the state if high-sulfur coal is burned without the benefit of scrubbers or other air pollution control equipment.

They estimated that quick resumption of the use of Illinois coal by utilities could cut the cost of producing electric power for Illinois consumers by almost $96 million between 1980 and 1985. However, they said, costs would begin to go up again as further air pollution control equipment was installed at power plants.

The researchers found that Illinois coal sales dropped by almost 13 million tons between 1972 and 1977.

They attributed most of that decline to increased purchases of low-sulfur western coal — mostly by electric power companies in Illinois and Missouri. Such costs are passed on to utility customers. Utilities buy about 85 percent of all coal produced in Illinois.

Most benefits would come from convincing coal customers in states around Illinois as well as the Illinois coal users to return to the use of Illinois coal. But substantial economic improvements also would come about even if only major Illinois users resumed burning Illinois coal, the study showed.

No wrong-doing in phone calls from office—Barton

Madison County Supervisor of Assessments James Barton said he has investigated long-distance telephone calls charged to his office for personal calls by an employee and has concluded there was no wrong-doing by the employee, Barton told the Press-Record yesterday.

Chief Deputy Assessor Marilyn J. Ritchey of Granite City was asked about telephone calls made to women's clothing stores in Chicago, Houston and New York from Barton's office and agreed she did make the calls to find a dress to wear to a wedding, but she asked the operator, in front of witnesses, to bill the calls to her home telephone number, Barton said.

He said he talked to Mrs. Ritchey and other employees who heard her make the calls and has concluded that she did ask that the calls be billed to her home.

"If you dial zero, then one, and then the number you want, the operator will come on the line. If you ask her to bill the call to another number, she will call that number to verify it can be charged to it, we believe."

"There was no one at Mrs. Ritchey's home, the call was billed to the number from which it was made," Barton said.

"She has paid not only for the $5.40 charges for seven calls she made, but has paid for another call to Chicago on the bill we are not even sure was hers," he added.

"It probably has cost the county over $100 in manhours to investigate $7 worth of phone calls. The matter is closed, as far as I am concerned," Barton concluded.

Hits parked van

Janet Jordan, Bunker Hill, was charged with careless driving after her auto struck the parked van of Eddie Thomas, 1406a Madison Ave., in front of Thomas' apartment building at 8:15 p.m. Monday.

Jerry Jordan, 35, of 2105 Miracle Ave., a passenger in the auto, was taken by a Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where he was treated for bumps and bruises and was released.

Mrs. Dant will represent the Second Ward and will fill the unexpired term of Frank Dutko who resigned after winning the Democratic party nomination for Madison County Board.

On the recommendation of Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk, Second Ward Alderman William Gushel made the motion, seconded by Third Ward Alderman Elmer Smith, to appoint Mrs. Dant as alderman.

She and her late husband, Cecil Dant, had three children.

Hospice authority to speak

Dr. Richard Lamerton of St. Joseph's Hospice in London, England, will visit the Rogers University Medical School's Hospice in Dallas, Texas, and then on April 20 and 21 will be in the St. Louis and Madison County area.

Currently, Director of St. Joseph's Hospice, where he has worked for ten years as a medical officer and supervisor of medical students in hospice work, he is a past assistant at St. Christopher's Hospice of London.

He is the author of the book "Care of the Dying," and co-edited "The Hour of Our Death" with Sylvia Lack. He has written numerous articles and has lectured extensively on the hospice concept in the United States for the past five years.

The hospice movement is regarded as strong in the U.S. and is growing rapidly. There are over 100 hospice care programs in America with many more in the formative stages.

Hospice care is palliative, supportive, comfort care for persons for whom aggressive treatment of their disease is no longer appropriate.

The goal of hospice is toward pain-free, alert comfort for the patient so that he or she may live at home.

Through the integrated team efforts of a medical director, nurses, social worker, chaplain and lay volunteers, the physical, psychological, spiritual and social needs of the ill person and family are ministered to.

There is believed to be increasing interest in the hospice concept of care for terminally ill people and their families in this area.

"We are fortunate to have the opportunity to hear an experienced and articulate physician as Dr. Lamerton on this subject," Rosemarie Lindner of Hospice of Madison County comments.

On Monday, April 21, from 9 to 10:30 a.m., he will give an illustrated lecture on "Pain Control." This presentation is geared to nurses and pharmacists and it will be held at Lutheran Medical Center, 2639 Miami St., St. Louis.

From 11:30 to 1, he will attend a luncheon at SIU at Edwardsville, and from 1 to 3 p.m. there will be a seminar by Dr. Lamerton for the Department of Philosophy, Nursing and Gerontology of SIUE.

From 7:30 to 9 p.m. April 21, Dr. Lamerton will give an illustrated public lecture to professionals and lay people entitled, "Care of the Dying, with Emphasis on Hospice." This presentation will be at the St. Louis Metropolitan Medical Society Building, 3839 Lindell, St. Louis.

The Lamerton stay will be jointly sponsored by the St. Louis Metropolitan Medical Society, the Metropolitan Society of Clinical Oncology, the St. Louis Oncology Nurses Association, and Hospice of Madison County.

For further information regarding details of his visit, Quad-Cityans may contact Ruth Reko, Continuing Care Unit, Lutheran Medical Center at 772-1456, extension 725 or Rosemarie Lindner, Hospice of Madison County, St. Elizabeth Medical Center, at 790-3399.

GC rejects trash bids

Granite City Council members voted 8 to 5 Tuesday night to reject four bids for the city's three-year garbage and trash collection contract and to meet in a caucus session to consider what further steps should be taken.

A motion to reject all the bids received a month ago was made by Alderman Paul R. Bowler, finance committee chairman after most of the aldermen agreed the prices bid were too high. The council also rejected a suggestion that new bids be called immediately so that the aldermen can discuss a restructuring of the specifications if it is determined such action might attract low bid offers.

Mayor Paul Schuler set 7 p.m. Tuesday night as the time for a caucus of the council as a whole to consider alternatives to the bids received earlier.

Alderman Everett Morlen opposed a rejection of all bids on grounds that it eliminated the chance to negotiate with the bidding firms. City Attorney Lance Callis ruled that once the bids were rejected the city could not negotiate a contract with any of the firms that submitted bids.

Alderman Paul Fisk also maintained that the aldermen should consider that a bid rejection might put the city in a position of having nowhere to go to acquire trash and collection service.

The trash pickup problem developed after four bidding firms quoted prices that are double the amount paid for trash collections during the life of the present three-year contract. That contract expires June 30.

Those voting in favor of rejecting the bids were Aldermen Fred Schuman Jr., Warren Deatur, Glen Sprankle, Bowler, Margaret Norn, Lloyd Bailey, Earl Baker and Michael Modrusic. Voting against were Aldermen Fisk, Morlen, Charles Douglas, Sam Whitmer and Mac Warfield.

Defends businesses, says alternative is regimentation

A coalition of radical protest groups is doing a profound disservice to American people in promoting a hate campaign against businesses, Chauncey W. Lever, chairman of the United States Industrial Council, charged this week at Nashville, Tenn.

Lever is spokesman for the 5,000-member-company nationwide business organization. He was referring to "Big Business Day, 1980" today.

He noted that the coalition of business critics has announced it will hold "trials" of companies they allege to be corrupt and will propose nominations for "a corporate hall of shame."

The 60 groups and individuals involved in this protest day are resorting to the worst forms of sensationalism in their attempt to smear American business," Lever said. "For example, they plan to organize 'symbolic bread lines' at banks."

"While American business creates more than 80 million jobs and has given the United States world leadership in technology," said Lever, "this coalition seeks to impose a new form of socialist control of business."

He cited a report in the Christian Science Monitor that the coalition is specially targeting 10 large corporations; so-called "shadow" boards of directors will be named by the coalition and the firms will be put under symbolic "public trusteeship."

Lever said American business should be outspoken in exposing what he regards as the radical background of the anti-business coalition, and should make clear to the public that the objective of the coalition is to dismantle the free enterprise system and replace it with a "regimented, state-controlled economy."

"The sensationalism in this effort is evident in the coalition's reference to the 'terrible ten' and the 'terrible ten,'" Lever said. He urged the public to recognize "the similarity between the planned demonstrations and the protests of the turbulent 1960s period."

Chouteau sets budget hearing

The Chouteau Township Board of Trustees will hold a public hearing Monday, April 28, at 7 p.m. in the township hall to discuss how about $37,310 in anticipated federal revenue sharing funds should be budgeted for the 1980-81 fiscal year.

The township has 412 in unappropriated revenue sharing funds on hand and anticipates receiving about $15,898 during the fiscal year. Public comments on possible uses for the funds will be received at the public hearing.

Town Clerk Patricia Polley said that if programs previously funded by revenue sharing are continued, about $20,000 of the money should be earmarked for them.

These include insurance and upkeep on the township building, funds for the mosquito abatement program and money for community activities and senior citizen events, she explained.

Oral or written suggestions for appropriating the remainder of the funds will be accepted at the hearing.

The town board met Monday and Tuesday night to work on the other township budgets. Monday night was devoted to preparing the budget for the assessor's office and the remainder of the budget matters were resolved Tuesday night.

The tentative budgets will be posted after the public hearing and preparation of the revenue sharing budget, Mrs. Polley said.

PARACHUTE GAMES were among the skills demonstrated for the Nameoki School PTA recently by a group of physical education students from the first through sixth grades. Mrs. Jane Kehoe, PE teacher, directed the program, which included rope climbing, basic tumbling and other skills. Members of the audience joined the students in some of the parachute games following the demonstrations.

Tax relief slow in sewer district

Residents who have been erroneously included in the special service area for the new sewers in Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice townships may have to pay their taxes under protest again this year, and many are "hopping mad about it."

Brownies aid 'stash trash' program

Brownie Troop 441 from Emerson School participated in the weekend project of "stash trash" working 20th Street from Adams Street to Edison Avenue.

All scouts taking part in the community event received soda, certificate from McDonalds and a stash trash patch. Those involved in the day long program were Lynn Ross, leader, Sharon Wickham, co-leader and Carrie Ross, Tammi Wickham, Angel Creek, Karie and Stacie Hewlett, Cathi Hester, Noel Landers, Ida Manning, Tracy Morgan, Tanya Albertson, Tammy Spillers, Kim and Katherine Lee, Pam Scott, Laura Sexton, Mrs. Katherine Lee and children, Cindy and Tina Lee, Louise Morgan, Todd Morgan, Carmen Albertson and Kathy Burcham.

according to Nameoki Democratic Committee member Mrs. Helen Hawkins.

Mrs. Hawkins has served as a spokesman for many people who are being taxed for the new sewers, but either will not receive sewer service or already are on Granite City sewers.

"The county promised us this would be taken care of, and now it looks like nothing has been done. Don Smith (assistant state's attorney) told us he would present something at the March meeting of the (Madison) County Board to redefine the boundaries of the district, but he has not," Mrs. Hawkins stated.

Smith had agreed that legislation to redefine the boundaries of the special service area to remove about 100 residents from the district would be legal and the county's special sewer committee adopted a revised map, which was to be presented to the County Board at its March meeting. However, Smith received a letter from the district's bonding attorneys, Chapman and Cutler, Chicago, which stated the bondholders object to redefining the district boundaries.

According to the bonding attorneys, there is fear among holders of the $5 million in general obligation bonds for the sewers that removing about 100 homes from the taxing district may reduce the district's taxing base to the point where the county may not be able to collect enough in tax revenues from the district to make the bond and interest payments.

The possibility of filing a lawsuit to remove those who will not receive sewer service from the district is being studied. They may have legal recourse under a state "failure to perform" statute which says the state cannot collect taxes for services which it is unable to provide.

Those who already are served by Granite City sewers, but who have been included in the special taxing district will have to find other recourse, Smith said.

He indicated he plans to negotiate with the bond attorneys on a plan which would protect the bondholders while allowing those erroneously included in the district to detach.

Auto emissions testing: a headache yet to come?

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

Far-away programs to test auto and vehicle emissions are a topic which may not attract much public interest now, but are likely to directly affect every driver in the Quad-City area soon, both in time and money.

Yet, the time to help guide the future of emissions testing is now. A special committee of the Illinois General Assembly is conducting a public hearing Monday, at 1 p.m., in East St. Louis, to discuss whether emission testing should be required in Madison and St. Clair counties.

The committee has a tough job, since if the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency disagrees with the committee's findings, the federal government could stop all federal grants, including highway funds, to the state. Such sanctions already have been invoked against Colorado and some sanctions now are being applied in Indiana.

Basically, the EPA says that any area which will be unable to meet clean air standards for ozone or carbon monoxide by 1982 must implement a mandatory auto emission inspection and maintenance (I-M) program.

Madison and St. Clair counties and the six counties in the Chicago metropolitan area have been designated as areas where the standards are not likely to be met by 1982.

If a mandatory program is started here, motorists will not be able to renew their license plates or obtain a registration sticker until the vehicle has passed an emission test.

Every motorist in the designated areas would be required to take their autos, periodically, to special testing stations. Most states require annual inspections. If a vehicle fails the inspection, it is the responsibility of the owner to have the vehicle repaired at a garage of his own choosing and have it retested.

Anyone who has resided in a state where such testing is mandatory can attest that the testing requirement is time consuming and usually expensive. In Indiana, vehicle inspection testing standards were so strict that brand new cars, driven from the showroom to the testing stations, were failing the inspection.

Owners of older cars which cannot be made to meet the standards without complete engine overhauls and the installation of pollution control equipment may find it more feasible to sell the car out of state than to have it adapted to meet the emission standards, critics fear.

The joint committee's hearing may lay the groundwork for an emission testing program, if there is evidence the Madison-St. Clair county area will be unable to meet the clear air standards.

The committee also will discuss who should conduct the testing, what fee should be charged for each test, how the program is to be enforced, which vehicles should be tested and how many tests should be required.

Public input at this time could have a direct bearing on how stringent, how costly and how time-consuming it may be in the future to have a vehicle certified legal to drive in this area.

The hearing will be held in Room 202 of the Regional State Office Building, 10 Collinsville Ave., in downtown East St. Louis.

Big cycle safety program in state

Illinois' Motorcycle Safety Program has been awarded the Motorcycle Safety Foundation's (MSF) 1979 "state recognition award."

This is the second consecutive year Illinois has received the award. According to Dr. Charles H. Hartman, president of the MSF, the award is given to the state that has made the most significant advances in motorcycle safety during the previous year.

The core of Illinois' program is the motorcycle safety course, offered free to any Illinois resident aged 15 or older. The course, given at six universities and 128 locations in communities throughout the state, consists of eight hours of classroom and 12 hours of on-the-bike instruction in basic riding techniques.

More than 17,500 persons have received the training in Illinois.

Not too late to be counted in census

It's not too late to be counted in the 1980 census, the U.S. Bureau of the Census is emphasizing.

Questionnaires were mailed to every household on March 28, and most people were instructed to mail back a completed questionnaire on Census Day, April 1. Millions did so, well over 80 percent, but the bureau reports that a number of households have not yet been heard from.

People not in effect be "invisible" when census statistics are used to reapportion seats in the House of Representatives and to guide the distribution of federal funds—their tax dollars—for programs in communities across the nation.

There is no penalty for a late return of the questionnaire, but census answers should be given as of the April 1 date regarding births, deaths, changes of address, and other facts.

To be sure everyone is counted, as of April 16, census takers will contact those households that were asked to mail back a completed questionnaire but have not done so.

The bureau notes that this follow-up work increases the cost of the census. It is estimated that for every one percent of the households that mail back a fully answered form as asked, $2 million in follow-up costs will be avoided.

The response has been so good that a supplemental funding request has been discarded.

Every person's answers to the 1980 census are confidential by law and cannot be obtained even by other government agencies, whatever their purpose.

Census answers are seen only by census workers, sworn to secrecy, who are liable to a jail term of up to five years and a fine up to $5,000 for violating that law.

Not once in the history of the modern confidentiality law, which dates back to the 1930 census, has any census worker even been prosecuted for breaking census confidentiality, officials point out. Census answers become public after 72 years of historical purposes.

Approximately 90 percent of the nation's households were asked to mail back an answered questionnaire, more than in any prior census.

The remaining households, primarily in rural regions, also received a questionnaire in the mail, but were asked to answer and keep the form until a census taker comes to pick it up.

Often there is uncertainty about whether to list census members away at college, for instance, or serving in the military. Students living at or near the college away from home are enumerated at the school, but students living at home are counted with the household.

Military barracks personnel and others in group quarters are considered residents of the area in which they are stationed and are enumerated there, and military personnel on ships are also enumerated.

In prisons (excluding short-stay institutions), orphanages, nursing homes, and other long-stay institutions, census takers distributed questionnaires which will be collected to enumerate the individuals in those institutions.

Anyone temporarily away from home, such as an overseas traveler, who has reason to think he or she was not included on a census form at home should at this time call the U.S. census district office to notify them, officials said.

FATALITIES RISING

The Illinois Department of Transportation and the Illinois State Police report there were 114 March traffic fatalities on Illinois highways. For the first three months of 1980 there, were 350 traffic deaths, an increase of 16.3 percent over the 301 deaths reported for the same period of 1979.

Arrest in Reese robbery

Charles R. Price, 33, of 3000 E. 23rd St., was arrested Monday as he was discharged from St. Elizabeth Medical Center and was charged with the Jan. 25 armed robbery of the Reese Drug Store, 1322 Niedringhaus Ave.

Police said Price has a painful illness and told them he was unable to fill a prescription for a pain killer the night of the robbery. Finally, he allegedly entered the pharmacy with a gun and demanded the specific drug.

The pharmacist threw him two bottles of the drug and he left, officers said. Since that time, he has been hospitalized much of the time, and investigators were waiting until he was released from the medical center before filing charges.

He was released at 1:45 p.m. Monday on a $35,000 recognizance bond.

FUND FOR HAZARDOUS AREA SCHOOL BUSSES

The Illinois Department of Transportation has developed guidelines for a new state law that allows school districts to receive reimbursement for busing school children in situations where walking would be hazardous. Under the law, boards electing to provide busing within a mile and one-half and seeking reimbursement must use the guidelines, newly published in the Illinois Register, in determining a serious safety hazard.

The State Board of Education will reimburse the cost of the voluntary program from legislative-approved school bus transportation funds. The program is expected to be available to the school districts during the 1980-81 school year.

GUEST SPEAKER, Ron Hicks a representative from Houser Automotive, guest speaker at the April dinner meeting of the Tri-Cities Chapter, National Secretaries Association, and Mrs. Ruth Houser, a member of the organization.

Auto maintenance is program topic

"P.M." - standing for "preventive maintenance" was the point stressed by Ron Hicks of Houser Automotive at the monthly dinner meeting of the Tri-Cities Chapter, National Secretaries Association (Int'l.) The topic was the care and handling of automobiles, and Hicks held an open discussion for members who have questions they wanted answered about problems with their cars.

Included in program were such items as checking oil, water, battery, tires and making sure the lights are in working condition. "I have seen engines ruined because people have let their cars get too low on oil," Hicks stated, stressing that the most important thing an individual can do is to keep the car filled with oil.

In order to get the best mileage, the audience was advised to be sure the tires were properly inflated. Many people think because they have radial tires, they are supposed to look flat, but this is not necessarily the case. He urged the members to buy a tire gauge and check the pressure in their tires once a week. A low tire can cost 3-4 miles per gallon of gas each week. He also mentioned that tire pressure should be checked "cold"; as the car is driven, the tire pressure will build up. The proper amount of air is usually shown on a sticker on the car door.

In order to avoid a $25 to $35 fine, he cautioned the members to make sure their headlights are both working; also the tail lights. Another item he emphasized was the fact that it is quite costly to keep driving a car when a noise is heard when applying the brakes; again, preventive maintenance is the answer.

Whereas hoses and belts in previous years could last two or three years, today's cars with their catalytic converters - develop belt failure more quickly. Air filters should definitely be changed at recommended intervals or the car is going to be starving for fresh air into the carburetor. The air filter should be checked even more often than recommended if it is driven frequently on dusty roads, the speaker noted.

Another point brought out in the presentation was the fact that permanent antifreeze isn't meant to be really permanent; it should be changed every two years, and the cooling system should be flushed out. Failure to get the old antifreeze out of the car could result in a rusted out freeze plug, and a big repair bill.

In closing, Hicks repeated the important point that car owners should be conscious of the defects they cause in their cars due to neglect, and the fact that a little P.M. can go a long way.

The meeting was conducted by President Charlie Vunovic, with reports presented by Recording Secretary Nancy Bezan and Treasurer Sally Gracey. Reports on activities of the future Secretaries Association chapters at Granite City High School, North and South and Madison High School were given by Mrs. Vunovic and Helen Gieselman.

Over half the members present indicated their plans to attend the Illinois Division meeting May 23, 24, 25 in Decatur. The ways and means prize was won by Mary Sue Harper. Cathy Smith won the membership prize, and attendance prize went to Betty Dietrich.

The next meeting of the chapter will be the Granite High Future Secretaries banquet at Charlie's Restaurant on Tuesday, May 13, at which time FSA awards will be presented to juniors and seniors at each high school who have accumulated the most points. Service committee for the meeting are Lou Hemming and Peggy Moore. Election of officers will follow at a closed membership meeting.

West Madison Senior Citizens celebrate second anniversary

Township Supervisor Chris Paschoff gave a check for $100 to President Helen Jiles.

Approximately 100 people attended the event, including Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk, Comptroller Al Hudzik and Police Chief Don Bridick.

Hostesses were Bernice Word, Eugenia Snoddy, Nancy Shaw and Mary Ferguson. The Madison Senior Citizen Band provided entertainment.

The group meets every second and fourth Tuesday of each month. Other officers include Jeffie Paige, vice-president; Nancy Shaw, secretary; and Bessie Turner, treasurer.

Charge man impersonated policeman

Phillip T. Holton, 32, Maplewood, Mo., was arrested at 1:35 p.m. Monday and was charged with two counts of impersonating a police officer.

Officers first were called to the 2800 block of Logan Avenue at 1:05 p.m. Monday where a woman said a man knocked on her door and when she opened the door, he entered and told her he was an undercover police officer.

He opened his wallet, showed some kind of identification and then sat down in a chair and refused to leave the home. The woman said the intruder asked her where he could purchase some drugs.

She said she did not know where he could purchase drugs and he finally left her home. She called police, who searched the area, but could not locate the man.

One-half hour later, officers were called to a home in the 2100 block of Illinois Avenue where the resident pointed out a man in the house and said he was an intruder.

Residents said the man represented himself as a Maplewood, Mo., police officer, entered the house and flashed an identification card.

He then went to the refrigerator, got himself a beer and sat down in a chair and refused to leave. The woman went to a neighbor's home and called police, who arrested Holton at the victim's home.

Fines allotted

A total of $146,778 was collected in fines during the month of March in Madison County, according to a report by Circuit Clerk Willard V. Portell. County fines totaled $50,000.

Of that total, Granite City received $7,565; Madison received $1,250; and Venice received $1,180. The Illinois Commerce Commission was given $80 and the Department of Conservation, $100.

Two hurt in cycle mishap

Two persons on a motorcycle were injured when the cycle collided with the car of James Burrell Sr., 60, Brooklyn, in front of the Moto service station, 1659 Madison Ave., at 3 p.m. Tuesday.

Burrell was charged with failure to yield the right of way while making a left turn from the northbound lanes of Madison Avenue into the service station.

Witnesses alleged the auto turned in front of the oncoming southbound motorcycle. Taken by a Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center were the driver of the cycle, Dennis Vickers, 20, of 1308 Grand Ave., and a passenger, Miss Mary Boyer, 18, of 2312 State St.

He suffered a cut around his right eye and was admitted. She was treated for a nose and was released.

Passengers hurt on Pontoon Road

The autos of Kevin Morgan, 17, Georgetown Drive, Pontoon Beach, and Arnold Meyer, 2002 Richmond Ave., collided in the 1700 block of Pontoon Road at 12:30 p.m. Friday, resulting in injuries to passengers in both cars.

Sandy Morgan, 19, also of Georgetown Drive, suffered a deep puncture wound to her right lower leg and contusions to her leg and foot.

She was taken by a Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where she was treated, X-rayed and released.

Sandra Meyer, 40, a passenger in Meyer's auto, suffered minor injuries, but declined immediate medical treatment.

Police alleged that Morgan's auto struck the back of Meyer's car, which was slowing for traffic in the westbound lanes of Pontoon Road. Morgan was issued a ticket alleging failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident.

CARL RANFT, left, general manager of the Tri-City Regional Port Authority, who was honored at the regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce. Ranft served as vice-president of the Chamber for two terms before serving as president in 1954-55. He served as the first chairman of the Chamber's port authority committee and was chairman of the TCPRA board of directors from 1959 through 1966 when he was named general manager. At right is Kenneth Evers, president of the Chamber.

CIVIC LEADER, Henry Baucum, left, a 59-year-old resident of Venice, is awarded a plaque by Kenneth Evers, president of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, for outstanding service to his community. Baucum has held many offices including alderman in Venice, Venice city treasurer and a 12-year member of the Madison Board of Education. He now operates a grocery store and has been active in the real estate business. At right is Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols.

Cutoff May 2 at Ill. State

Freshman admissions for the fall semester at Illinois State University, Normal-Bloomington, will close on Friday, May 2. The cutoff is the first at ISU since 1972 and is due to budgetary restraints imposed by the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

A waiting list will be established for freshman applications received after May 2. The cutoff affects only the freshman class. All other classifications, such as transfers and graduate programs, remain open at this time.

The BHE has identified Illinois State and two other universities, Northern Illinois and Eastern Illinois, as being underfunded and has called for targeted enrollment reductions at those three institutions.

Illinois State's enrollment last fall was a record 19,576 students. The BHE has targeted a cutback of 385 fulltime equivalent students at ISU, 520 at Northern and 405 at Eastern.

Under the policy, general revenue funds will be granted that are equivalent to the amount lost in tuition because of the planned enrollment reductions. Student fee revenues will be lost, however.

Seek man who caused crash

Granite City police are seeking a man, who allegedly forced Mrs. Tina Rainwater, 2401 Wilson Ave., to turn her auto off St. Clair Avenue, within 6 months from date of issuance of letters; and any claim not so filed is barred as to the estate inventoried within that period. Also, copies of claims must be mailed or delivered to the administrator and to the attorney.

Mrs. Rainwater said she was driving east when the man, who was a passenger in the front seat, grabbed the steering wheel and turned it sharply to the left, causing the car to swerve out of control. She and another passenger, Ben Apponyi, 2825 Palmer Ave., suffered minor injuries to the accident.

The passenger who caused the accident left the area and has not been located, police said.

Firemen to help at Health Fair

About 50 firemen in the Granite City Fire Department have volunteered to staff, on their off-time, three sites in the Health Fair '80 beginning the week of April 21.

According to Lora Wasko, one of the district chairmen, the firemen will staff the two sites in Granite City — Wednesday, April 23, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m., at the Township Hall, 21st Street and Delmar Avenue; and Thursday, April 24, 11 a.m. to 7 p.m., at St. Elizabeth Medical Center — and assist at the Memorial Center in Madison on Saturday, April 26, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Capt. Ed McGovern is coordinating the project. Some of those volunteering are firemen, and others are emergency medical technicians.

Tests available at all three sites will be height, weight, blood pressure, visual acuity and anemia, blood chemistry, diabetes, pulmonary function and tuberculosis.

On Saturday, April 26, from 10 to 4, there will be hearing, podiatry, oral screening and TB testing at the Venice Recreation Center, 323 Broadway, Venice.

The Health Fair will be conducted at 50 sites throughout the St. Louis area April 21 to 27.

Two automobiles and other items were stolen from Thomas Bauer, 276 Sunny Shores Mobile Home Park, he told sheriff's deputies at 12:45 p.m. Monday. Bauer estimated the value of the autos and missing items at $17,636.

Deputies were told the victim was drinking in a Madison tavern Sunday night and believes three men may have followed him from the tavern back to his home.

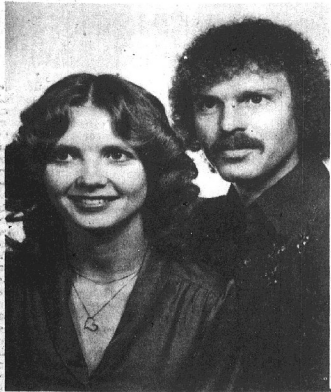

He said he remembered his car getting stuck in a ditch and he went to sleep in the car and when he awoke, he was at home and items, including his car keys, had been taken from his mobile home, he related.

Taken in addition to the two cars and the keys were a $2,000 diamond ring, a $300 pocket watch, a blue steel revolver worth $236 and about $100 in cash. The wall phone in the mobile home and a cabinet door in the kitchen were broken.

Respect Life Sunday at Concordia Church

Concordia Lutheran Church, 2301 Grand Ave., has named this coming Sunday, "Respect Life Sunday," in order to alert Christians to the sanctity of life and the danger of the removal of the protection of human life at the time of its beginning and its ending, according to the Rev. Arvin Twietmeyer.

For this occasion, Concordia's 10:15 pulpit guest will be Dr. Samuel Nafziger who is associated with the national "Lutherans for Life" movement. Dr. Nafziger is the executive secretary of the Commission on Theology and Church Relations of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. His theme will be "To live is Christ, to die is gain."

Pastor Nafziger is a Texan, attending Texas schools through junior college. He began his pastoral ministry in Canyon and Tulla, Texas, in 1967. He received his Master of Divinity degree from Concordia Seminary in St. Louis and then his Doctorate in Theology at Harvard Divinity School in 1973. A DAAD scholarship took him to Rupprecht-Karl Universität in Heidelberg. The Chaplaincy at Massachusetts' Norfolk House of Correction also occupied him in 1973. He is the LCMS observer on the National Council of Churches' Faith and Order Commission, serves with the Lutheran Council's Division of Theological Studies and was the Synod's observer at

The Lutheran World Federation 1977 Dar es Salaam Assembly.

Dr. Nafziger, concerned about the current legal attitude towards abortion said, "The full implications of the supreme court's 1973 decision to legalize abortion in the United States have yet to be realized," he warned. Dr. Nafziger will also speak to the 9 a.m. Bible class and field questions in the whole abortion-euthanasia area, the host pastor added.

Graduate award to Lisa Gilbert

The Graduate School at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has announced recipients of the 1980-81 competitive graduate awards, according to Floyd Coleman, assistant dean of the school. The 35 include Lisa Gilbert of Granite City.

The awards are intended to recognize and encourage students who have shown outstanding potential as revealed through past academic records, letters of recommendation, and other evidence of outstanding achievements, Coleman said.

Each of the awards carries a stipend of $335 per month and a remission of tuition and academic fees for the academic year, beginning in September.

Final drive on reducing legislature

The Coalition for Political Honesty has proclaimed Saturday, April 19, "Political Honesty Petition Day" as part of a statewide petition blitz to place the Legislative Cutoff Amendment on the November ballot.

"Coalition volunteers will be passing Cutoff petitions at shopping centers, grocery stores and banks across the state to give the six million voters of Illinois an opportunity to reform the legislature," said Patrick Quinn, Coalition spokesman. The amendment would be a binding referendum to reduce the size of the Illinois House from 177 to 118 members.

"It would also abolish multi-member House districts and cumulative voting, and return Illinois to the traditional American principle of one-person, one-vote," Quinn said. "More than 230,000 of the 252,000 signatures needed by May 4 have already been collected to bring about a referendum."

"Illinois citizens are way ahead of the politicians when it comes to cutting out political waste. It's time for the people to reform a legislature which refuses to reform itself."

"If approved by voters, the amendment will mark the first time in State history that voters themselves have enacted a constitutional law by direct petition and referendum, totally bypassing the legislature."

"The Cutoff Amendment is a direct and responsible way for the people of our state to overhaul the legislature and create a more economical, efficient and independent legislative body. "Right now the General Assembly is the third largest in the country and its members are the highest paid state legislators in the nation with a $28,000 salary plus an additional $7,400 in fringe benefits."

"The petition drive and referendum provides the best way to remind legislators that Illinois taxpayers have not forgotten the sneaky and selfish pay raises after the last election," said Quinn. "By abolishing the jobs of 59 unnecessary legislators, the amendment can save taxpayers $7 million a year in reduced salary, expenses and staff costs."

Spring scuba diving course

The last scuba diving session before the summer swimming season begins will be held at the Tri-City Area YMCA beginning Sunday, April 20. The scuba course is instructed by Phil Demming of Bi-State Underwater and lasts for eight weeks, meeting on consecutive Sundays from 5 to 7 p.m.

This is the only course in the area in which all equipment is furnished and is available to both non-YMCA members and members.

The course fee is $70 for non-members and $55 for members. A $10 deposit is required. Scuba is an acronym for self-contained underwater breathing apparatus.

There is only a limited number of openings in the class due to seasonal demand. To enroll in the class, the public may register at the Tri-City Area YMCA, at 2001 Edison Ave., Granite City.

Art Lindner announced that there will be 240 tickets sold for the May dinner-dance. He also told of several tours available.

Marge Hall, membership chairman, introduced the following new members: Walter Sparks, Winifred and Malfred Morris, Ann and Ted Graklanoff, Bertie Weiss, Larue Crawford, Hazel Thomas, Lucille Hodgins and Pauline Luschnitz.

Georgia Butler, cheer chairman, reported on cards sent to the sick.

The Health Fair will be held in the Township Hall on Wednesday, April 23, with several of the members participating.

Complicated decisions by colleges on who to admit

It is that time of year again when many high school seniors — the college application process behind them — wait anxiously to hear whether they have been accepted to attend a college in the fall.

Meanwhile, on college campuses throughout the country, admissions officers are busy completing one stage or another of a fairly complex, sophisticated and often, from the public's view, mysterious — process which, in the end, is designed to provide a good match between students' needs and abilities and the institution's resources and educational programs.

How are these decisions made? Why is a particular student chosen over another? How are various elements in the selection process evaluated to produce the end result — acceptance or rejection?

Officials say a lack of understanding of the admissions process has given rise to speculation and erroneous conclusions that students are accepted or rejected on the basis of the admissions test, a single factor in what many admissions officers describe as "a multifaceted process."

According to college admissions directors and high school guidance counselors who are members of the College Board, a national nonprofit membership association, there is no standard formula to explain the admissions process.

A new national survey of admissions practices and policies at two- and four-year colleges bears them out.

According to the survey, education records including high school grades, and courses taken; test scores; recommendations from teachers and guidance counselors; interviews with admissions staff and faculty, and autobiographical essays are among the credentials reviewed and evaluated by college admission committees.

A 1979 study conducted by the College Board and the American Association of College Registrars and Admissions Officers (AACRAO) revealed that other criteria such as student motivation or initiative, evidence of good citizenship and moral character, special skills or abilities and leadership qualities are given serious consideration when evaluating a candidate's potential for admission.

"The whole admissions process is an impressionistic, human process. To make the best judgment possible, you have to read the personal statements, the letters of recommendation, and examine the quality of the academic record."

"You have to keep all the criteria in perspective and finally evaluate the whole package," says Molly Geraghty, a Harvard assistant dean of admissions.

Contrary to the popular belief that admission test scores are the sole factor in the most important factor in admission decisions, many college officers and high school counselors emphasize that this is not true.

"The SAT is just one component in the procedure, and helps more than hinders an applicant. SAT's are not the be-all and end-all, but are good supporting evidence," says Kenneth Nourse, admissions director at Union College.

The AACRAO study confirms this. It reveals that a vast majority of the two- and four-year colleges surveyed agree that while test scores are important, they are not the sole factor in admissions.

In fact, high school performance was ranked the number one factor in the admissions process.

Admission test scores ranked second in importance. Linden Smith, director of admissions at Yale University, said the SAT score of the student "is by no means the sole factor. High school record, grades, extracurricular activities, sports — these are more important."

The study further indicates that the colleges believe that test scores are useful in three ways: (1) to review as part of the overall evaluation of an applicant's credentials; (2) to determine if an applicant may need special assistance in completing the college's academic program; and (3) to include among other data in a profile to inform students of the school's academic level.

"In essence, the SAT might be considered a yardstick. It gives us kind of a feel for a student and his or her abilities. It gives us an idea of a student's potential," notes Brad Sargeant, director of admissions, Jacksonville University.

Others involved in the admissions process, like Harry B. Scheiber, professor of American history, University of California, conclude that the role of the SAT is "to identify able students who might otherwise be judged unfairly."

Still others view the SAT as "a standardized norm to help admissions offices determine if a student will be able to cope with rigorous college work," as noted by Philip F. Smith, admissions director at Williams College.

Mediation urged in GC talks

By HARRY BARNES of the Press-Record

A request that Granite City submit to mediation the negotiation of a new working agreement with union employees of the police and fire departments was referred by the council Tuesday night to its negotiating committee.

The committee, which was designed to circumvent Edward McGovern, president of police union Local 137, told the aldermen by letter that the council on three occasions has rejected agreements reached between police and fire department representatives and the council's negotiating committee.

His letter noted that in the first instance an agreement for a wage increase of 12 percent this year and 10 percent in the 1981-82 year was reached. That was rejected by the council several weeks ago when the council approved a motion to not pay a 12 percent increase this year.

McGovern asked that the council agree to mediation at the state or federal level with the council as a whole because agreements between the workers and the committee are repeatedly rejected.

"We apparently are in an impasse in our negotiations," McGovern said in noting that a new agreement should be negotiated by May 1, beginning of the city's first fiscal year.

City officials have offered an eight percent increase for the 1980-81 fiscal year, but have not reached a decision on the extent of a wage increase for the second year of the agreement.

Finance officials have balked at a suggested 10 percent for the second year. Nick Petrillo, city treasurer, has told council members that in view of a potential cut in federal revenue sharing funds from the federal government, the city would be in difficult straits to meet a 10 percent rate increase during the 1981-82 year.

Petrillo has noted that the city could encounter a $200,000 deficit in trying to pay a 10 percent increase during the second year of the contract.

Reports robbery

Franklin Dwayne Medlin, 27, of 4012 Laura Drive, Fontenot Beach, told Madison County sheriff's deputies at 10:23 p.m. Monday that he had been beaten and robbed of $175 to $200 cash.

Medlin said he was beaten in a parking lot and then driven to Town & Country Liquors in Mitchell, where he was let out of the vehicle.

He entered the liquor store and requested help. The employees there called sheriff's deputies.

When deputies arrived, Medlin asked to be taken to the hospital, saying he "hurt all over." St. Elizabeth's Medical Center, he was treated for scratches to his forehead and abrasions to his head and was released. Deputies said he was unable to pinpoint where he was robbed onto give details about his attacker.

Workshop Friday on sex abuse

There are suggestions on how to prevent rape but no certain way of preventing it, according to Adrian Watkins of the SIUE Rape and Sexual Abuse Center.

In a free workshop tomorrow, she will discuss different aspects of rape. Included in the topics are suggestions for prevention of rape, what to do in case of a rape, the legal definition of rape, and the psychological aspects. Handouts and two videotaped lectures will be used in the workshop.

"The workshop was originally designed for new volunteers to the Center, but there is nothing being covered that the public should not know about; in fact, the topics are things the public should know," she said.

The program is scheduled from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. Friday in Room 1308 of the Peck Classroom Building.

The fire vehicles are to be tested at 10:45 a.m. and the hearing will begin at 1 p.m. in East St. Louis. Additional details on the hearing appear elsewhere in today's Press-Record.

Project managers named by Cairns

Appointment of two project managers, Thomas P. Houf and Robert W. Griscom, to National Steel Corporation's St. Louis-based consulting unit, National Engineers and Associates, was announced by Dr. Donald F. Cairns, president of NEA, here Monday.

Houf, who holds a civil engineering degree, has been with National Steel since 1968. He has managed engineering and construction projects for various National Steel divisions, including the Granite City Steel Division. Griscom, who has a degree in chemical engineering and a master of science degree in civil engineering, joined National Steel in 1972. He has had broad experience in project management and engineering design of air and water pollution control projects.

National Engineers and Associates is a full-service engineering, technical, and management consulting unit of National Steel Corp. NEA is headquartered at 7777 Bonhomme Ave., Clayton.

Cut by knife

Mark Theis Jr., 2147 Lee Ave., suffered a knife cut to the small finger of his left hand, after he and his brother, Robert, were assaulted by a man with a butcher knife at a friend's home in the 2200 block of Lee Avenue at 12:50 p.m. Saturday.

The Theis brothers said they were at the friend's home when another visitor became angry and argued with Robert. Mark said he picked up a wood stick to give to his brother's aid. The man then got a butcher knife from the kitchen and swung it at Robert, who ran from the house. The man then poked the knife at Mark and swung it at him, police were told. Mark said he put up his hand to protect himself and the knife cut his little finger.

He then ran from the house and went to the emergency room at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he talked to police. He was admitted to the medical center, because he was upset over the attack, authorities said.

There were no arrests, pending additional investigation, officers said.

WHY PRESIDENT CARTER'S RECENTLY DECLARED WAR ON INFLATION IS MORE APT TO WOUND AMERICA'S TAXPAYERS THAN AMERICA'S INFLATION.

The President now claims to be serious about inflation. Yet his economic record hardly demonstrates either an understanding of the problem or a willingness to mount an effective program against it. The same can be said of the Congress.

Inflation has more than tripled since 1976!

Consider the record:

- ☐ Before the President took office, the annual inflation rate was 4.8%. The rate in February was 18%.
- ☐ Federal spending has grown at double digit rates since 1976 and is now proposed to increase by a whopping 15.3% for 1980.
- ☐ Administration officials have underestimated inflation by 1.5% during 1977, 3.8% during 1978, and 7.2% during 1979.

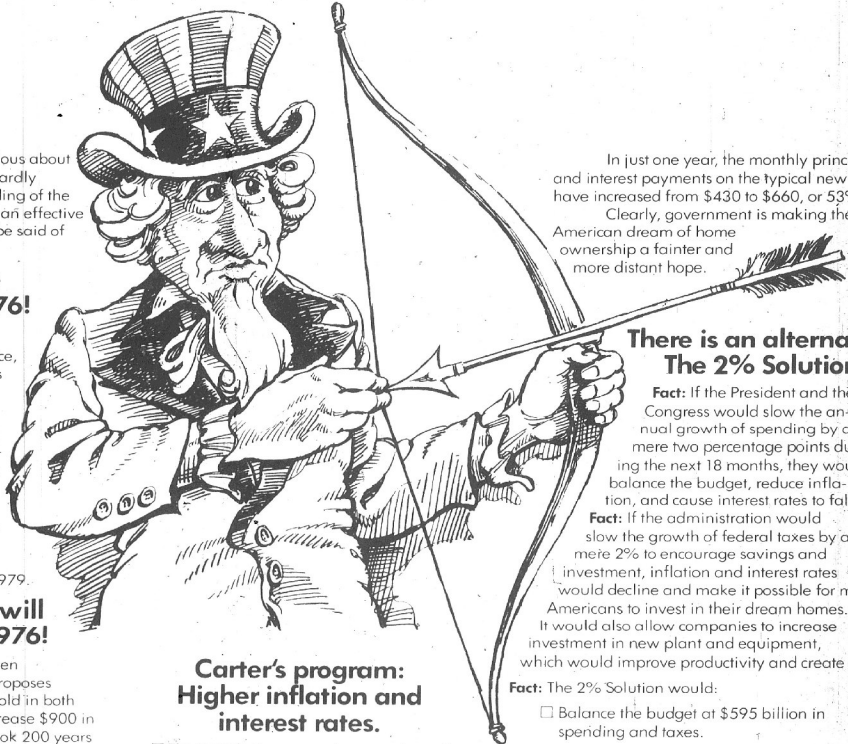

Taxes per household will have doubled since 1976!

- ☐ Contrary to what you have been led to believe, the President proposes even higher taxes per household in both 1980 and 1981. Taxes will increase $900 in 1980 and $1,200 in 1981. It took 200 years for taxes to reach $4,000 per household. Carter has proposed taxes totalling more than $8,100 per household in 1981.
- ☐ Even if you include the World War II years, the proposed federal taxes will be the highest percentage of people's income in our country's history.

Carter's touted "anti-inflation" budget calls for increased spending.

Declaring inflation a threat to the nation and the American way of life, the President responds by proposing even higher spending and taxes, as well as more wage and price regulations and credit controls. For example, the President's advertised budget cuts in 1980 are a mere $2 billion. But his unadvertised spending increases will add $6 billion. This means spending will grow by a huge 15.3%. That's no way to fight inflation!

Similarly, the President has advertised spending reductions of $13 to $14 billion in 1981. But unadvertised spending increases of $9 to $10 billion will offset most of the "cuts".

Carter's program: Higher inflation and interest rates.

- ☐ The President proposes increased gasoline taxes. This alone could cause 1% to 2% higher consumer prices.
- ☐ The President's proposed higher spending in 1980 will reduce savings and investment and housing by driving up interest rates.
- ☐ Increased tax receipts from dividends and interest earnings in 1981 will also reduce savings, investment, and productivity and cause interest rates to be higher.

But worst of all, the much heralded balanced budget for 1981 increases the tax burden on all Americans!

Where will our children live?

New home construction is 35% behind demand—and falling! This shortage will lead to higher housing prices in the future.

Government-induced inflation and resulting high interest rates have created a shortage of affordable homes and prevented many from upgrading their present housing. People who must move for new jobs, health reasons or retirement can't afford to do so.

In just one year, the monthly principal and interest payments on the typical new home have increased from $430 to $660, or 53%.

Clearly, government is making the American dream of home ownership a fainter and more distant hope.

There is an alternative: The 2% Solution.

Fact: If the President and the Congress would slow the annual growth of spending by a mere two percentage points during the next 18 months, they would balance the budget, reduce inflation, and cause interest rates to fall.

Fact: If the administration would slow the growth of federal taxes by a mere 2% to encourage savings and investment, inflation and interest rates would decline and make it possible for more Americans to invest in their dream homes. It would also allow companies to increase investment in new plant and equipment, which would improve productivity and create jobs.

Fact: The 2% Solution would:

- ☐ Balance the budget at $595 billion in spending and taxes.
- ☐ Reduce inflation by at least three percentage points.
- ☐ Lower short-term interest rates by at least three percentage points.
- ☐ Reduce mortgage interest rates by two percentage points.
- ☐ Build 400,000 additional new homes each year.
- ☐ Allow one million additional households to move to better housing each year.
- ☐ Create one million jobs.
- ☐ Increase average household income $900.

What YOU can do.

Tolliver re-elected by Venice school board

Jack R. Tolliver was re-elected to his fifth consecutive one-year term as president of the Venice Board of Education during a reorganization meeting Monday night.

The board also chose Board Member Larry Boyd as secretary for the next year. He succeeds Wilbert Glasper.

Board action also confirmed the reappointment of Don Phillips as board treasurer, Larry Hartman as board attorney and Robert Vickers as superintendent of schools.

Reorganization of the Venice School Board followed the official canvass of the vote cast in the April 12 school election, in which no changes were discovered in the totals reported earlier.

The canvass revealed a total of 41 spoiled ballots in the district's Precinct One in the vote on the proposition for a transfer of funds. The number of spoiled ballots in that precinct had not been tallied in the unofficial count.

Tolliver, Glasper and John Mangiaracino won three-year terms in the April 12 balloting, while incumbent George Wade was elected to the remaining year of an unexpired term.

The canvass showed Tolliver and Glasper received 301 and 272 votes respectively in their re-election, and Mangiaracino,

JACK TOLLIVER
President of board

LARRY BOYD
Board secretary

the newcomer, tallied 245 votes. Voting was in two precincts.

Earl Hogan, the third incumbent running for re-election officially tallied 81 votes, and Gregory Katana polled 75 votes, in their bids for three-year terms.

The canvass showed that in the race for the one-year unexpired term, George Wade polled 261 votes to 58 for Bernard Hogan.

The board canvass also confirmed a vote of 185 votes in favor and 128 votes against the proposition in the two precincts. Twenty-five spoiled ballots were counted in the Precinct Two vote on the proposition.

Tolliver is expected to announce board committee appointments in the next meeting.

Board members approved a resolution changing the established dates of regular board meetings to the second and fourth Mondays of each month. The board's next meeting will be held April 28. The board has been meeting on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month.

In other action, the board members granted a leave of absence to Liza Maher, a cook, for the remainder of this school year.

Stress Center—survival, happy life, more creativity

Socrates said the unexamined life is not worth living. Today, health professionals tell us that if we don't examine ourselves, we may not only limit the quality of our lives, but also the length.

Stress or the handling of stressful circumstances is a major aspect of maintaining good physical and mental health.

Everyone undergoes stress. Without it, few things would be accomplished.

"Stress is a stimulant," says Kathryn Cramer, Ph.D., director of the St. Louis University Medical Center's Stress Center.

"People need it to survive. However, improper management of stress can be serious. Early physical indications of this are migraine headaches, hypertension or insomnia.

"The inability to concentrate, poor self-control or lower levels of creativity can be additional psychological indications of poor reactions to stress.

"Some of the long-term effects are excessive smoking, drug abuse or being over or under weight," she adds.

"Think of stress as energy," continues Dr. Cramer. "It can be either positive or negative. You must harness the energy if you are to expand productivity and accelerate progress, instead of it harnessing you."

St. Louis University Medical Center's Stress Center is seeking to prevent stress-related disorders as well as promote positive reactions to stress.

The department conducts workshops and seminars for business, educators and human service providers such as nurses and police officers.

"We want to provide primary and secondary intervention for persons before it is too late and before they must receive tertiary or hospital care," says Dr. Cramer.

"By helping people diagnose and cope with stress, we can aid them in handling as well as excelling in their personal and professional lives."

The Stress Center offers individual and group programs, many of which are held at the worksite.

These include stress management, stress prevention (career life planning), habit control (smoking, eating programs), and cardiac and pulmonary rehabilitation.

The core program on stress management an stress prevention addresses everyday living patterns of individuals.

Their mental health techniques demonstrate how the mind can generate stress that leads to self doubt, indecision, and depletion of energy and blocks effective behavior.

For example, negative internal chatter occurs after a person has made a conscious decision to do something. An internal voice the center calls Aunt Ninny says, "You really must get this work done."

You argue back, "But I set aside tonight to spend with my family."

"You should do this work," Aunt Ninny responds.

"This internal dialogue is normal," says Dr. Cramer, "but if it is unresolved—or if Aunt Ninny dominates the conversation—it can be stressful, because whatever you decide to do, you've lost."

"Instead, you need to learn to acknowledge Aunt Ninny's comments. She knows you well—she has important things to say."

"But in the end, you are responsible for your actions. You must choose what you will do out of a clear conscience and go from there," instructs Dr. Cramer.

Another example is called "I'm categories." These are self-limiting labels with which we categorize ourselves, says Dr. Cramer.

For example, the blanket statement, "I'm lousy at racquetball," might be true but it leaves little room for improving the skill, says Dr. Cramer.

As a result, the person takes on fewer and fewer challenges. Instead, saying "I'd like to play racquetball" carries the attitude of willingness to grow and improve.

A final illustration called the blaming technique says, "If only it hadn't snowed, I'd have done this" or "If only the kids weren't cranky..."

These statements give clout to many things around you that can be controlled instead of yielding your control to circumstances, asserts Dr. Cramer.

The habit control programs deal with the specific problems of smoking or weight control while integrating stress-related management techniques to controlling these habits.

The rehabilitation programs provide post-therapy instruction for changing living patterns for those who have undergone an acute disorder.

Currently, the department is filming a movie on stress to be released nationally in July. It will be targeted for persons in business and industry to educate them on ways to control stress.

For further information on the department's course offerings, Quad-Cityans may call 771-76501.

'Fitness fantasia'

The Tri-City Area YMCA has announced that two new series of aerobic dance classes are scheduled to begin soon.

Fitness Fantasia, as the class is called, is to begin a new morning class April 22 and an evening class May 5. The morning class meets on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9 to 9:45 and the evening class meets on Mondays and Wednesdays from 7 to 7:45. The classes continue for eight weeks each.

"Fitness Fantasia is a fun-filled, exciting way to achieve total fitness," said program director Lucy Tueth, who will be teaching the classes.

She said all movements have been selected to offer a total fitness program which will include choreographed exercise routines to a variety of music, tips on how to lose fat and stay trim, and ways to determine individual training zones for fitness. Cost of the class is $20 for YMCA members and $30 for non-members and must be paid upon registration.

No major crop damage by snow

By CHRIS DOLL
Area Adviser
Fruits and Vegetables Growers of fruits are always concerned about the weather, and Monday's snow-storm was no exception. Late season freezes and weather abnormalities are a constant threat to their crops.

However, the plants and their reproductive elements can withstand more than most people realize.

For instance, apple flowers should withstand temperatures of 30 degrees Fahrenheit when in full bloom, 28 in the pink stage, and 22 in the half-green stage.

Peach flowers should withstand 27-28 degrees when in bloom, and 26-27 in the pink bud stage. Critical temperatures of other stone fruit flowers are about one degree above peaches.

Freeze damage may occur even at these temperatures because of variables within the plant, between varieties, between locations, culture, and exposure.
All buds on a tree are not equally hardy. And all buds within a tree's structure are

GRANITE CITY (III.) PRESS-RECORD, Thursday, April 17, 1980—19 not at the same temperature.

Elevation and exposure make a difference in radiation type freezes.
Duration of freezing temperatures can also be a factor. The longer the cold persists, the greater the possibility of freeze injury.
Thus, the snow and brief temperature drop to 32 on April 14 should not have much negative effect on the 1980 fruit crop. However, future freezes may still occur to affect this year's crops.

Illinois House change could short-change Downstate

The Coalition for Political Honesty is making a big push Saturday for petition signatures to force reduction of the Illinois House from 177 to 118. We see the effort with mixed feelings, while a smaller legislature would offer some advantages, it could and probably would eliminate minority party representation here and in many other communities, ending an important link to Springfield.

We also might react a bit more positively to the activities of the Coalition if he wasn't so predictably negative. He is trying hard to equate "public officials" in voters' minds with "dishonest politicians," an allegation obviously unfair when applied with a broad brush to the whole spectrum of governmental officers. (He also likes to use such words as "sneaky" and "selfish.")

Quinn sees elimination of multi-member House districts as automatically achieving "reform," economy, efficiency, independence, American principles and eradication of "political waste." He says abolishing the jobs of "59 unnecessary legislators" would save $7 million a year in salaries, expenses and staff costs.

Those kinds of savings would not be automatic and could be wiped out by a few minutes' appropriation votes by the representatives, whether they number 118 or 177. It would be much tougher for legislators like Everett Steele to continue their General Assembly service. And smaller districts—118 instead of 59—would not in some cases improve the representation for individual voters.

It could be a step whose time has come. But it includes many disadvantages, and Quad-Cityans may wish to think twice before adding their names to the petitions. Seventy legislators and two former governors, Democrat Samuel H. Shapiro and Republican Richard B. Ogilvie, are active in efforts to retain the present size of the legislature.

A telling point about the proposed change is that the concentration of party voters could lead to Democratic legislative power centering in Chicago, and a majority of House Republicans being based in the six-county Chicago suburban area. These would be strong blocs and divided Downstate Illinois might be left out in the cold.

Long-ago water fluoridation victory is debated again

History does repeat itself, sometimes happily and sometimes not. Hardly had the pyramid club craze subsided, after flourishing here a generation ago, before water fluoridation again became an issue.

At one time the Press-Record and Quad-City dentists jointly sponsored direct application of fluoride to local youngsters' teeth as a way of reducing future dental decay. Later, fluoridation of the water supply became feasible and was started, after much wrangling about its safety. About one part was added per million parts of water, as we recall.

Helping the public here and nationwide accept fluoridated water—a natural occurrence in many areas—was toothpaste manufacturers' lavish advertising popularizing pastes and powders containing a tiny bit of fluoride. Today, families are so thoroughly sold on the idea that one toothpaste brand is even named Fluoride.

None of this background has prevented a Circuit Court trial from beginning this week in Wood River, with Marion County Circuit Judge Ronald Niemann presiding, and a majority of House Republicans endeavoring to ban fluoride in water.

Experts and supposed experts are flying in from around the nation to testify either that fluoridation causes cancer and other horrible consequences, or that it is an entirely safe procedure of great benefit to people's dental health and overall health. Fluoride, like many other substances, is poisonous in heavy concentration. The trial will help decide whether the small amount citizens have been consuming for more than a generation should be continued.

Doctor here builds a better laboratory form

Dr. Joseph Kopp, pathologist at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, has been awarded the National Graphic Arts, Design Award by Moore Business Forms.

He received his award for the laboratory report form which he designed for the Medical Center.

Dr. Kopp's graphic design was chosen from 3,500 international entries for the annual presentation of the award, said Jerry Stollar, administrator of hospital systems for Moore. This is the first time an award like this has been presented to a customer, Stollar said; usually, they are won by artists.

Dr. Kopp, who has had no experience in graphic design, said he felt the need to design a more effective lab report form because the forms produced by the computer system used by the SEMC laboratory were old sized, difficult to read and unattractive.

The new forms, which he designed with the help of Robert Denny, hospital systems coordinator for Moore Business Forms, reflects a better image of the laboratory, said Dr. Kopp.

He added that the forms are easier to read and to use, and that they contain charts. The forms are also color coded to represent the various departments of the laboratory.

The two men were charged with attempted theft and criminal trespass to a vehicle.

They were arrested at 3:50 a.m. Wednesday in the 1400 block of 8th street, Madison. The pair allegedly removed part of the dash on a car belonging to Gene Welch.

Madison arrest

Rickie L. Endicott, 23, of 2712 Cayuga St., was arrested in Madison at 3:30 p.m. Friday and was charged with disorderly conduct for allegedly attempting to fight with a Madison policeman.

Patrolman Gary Marsala asked he was answering a call in a patrol car in the 1900 block of Rhodes Street and when he stopped the police car, another auto stopped nearby.

The driver of the other auto allegedly got out and stated to Marsala, "If you pull a stunt like that again, I'll whip you."

The driver contended that the police car made him stop his car suddenly and stated, "You think you can do anything you want with a police car?" It was reported by the officer.

Marsala also alleged the man held up his fist and grabbed Marsala to fight. He was told he was under arrest and the man allegedly stated, "It will take a lot more than you."

The officer radioed for assistance and when another officer arrived, the man surrendered and was arrested. He was released on a notice to appear in court.

School roofs top priority—citizens

The Granite City Board of Education was informed Tuesday night by Edwin F. Reiske, chairman of the Citizens Advisory Council, that "It was the unanimous decision of the members present to make the following two recommendations to the Board of Education:

1. "After considerable investigation of the Granite City schools, we found considerable need for major building maintenance. We ask the School Board to proceed by what means they deem appropriate to repair and maintain major needs in the school buildings.

2. "The number one priority should be roof repairs and, if funds are adequate, roofs which are in need of replacement should be replaced with some type of pitched roof.

"The list compiled contains many additional areas of concern; some of these may be deemed to be of a vital concern. The Council did not attempt to establish priorities beyond the first priority."

The Board of Education expressed appreciation to the citizens for the "thorough and efficient manner in which they conducted the study requested by the board."

The administration was instructed to bring back a proposal to the board during May so that members may take the information from the CAC and the administration and make a decision that will lead to improvements at the various facilities of the school district.

A bond issue is among the possibilities being studied.

Denby trial continues

The trial of Billy B. Denby, 50, of the 2200 block of "Namekoi Road," was continuing Tuesday morning before Associate Judge John W. Day in Madison County Circuit Court at Edwardsville and the case is expected to go to the jury early next week.

Denby is charged with beating Edward Pence Jr., 53, of Mitchell, to death with a baseball bat in Denby's home Oct. 3, 1979. Police said Denby and Mr. Pence worked together at Granite City Steel and Denby told Granite City Police Detective Jerry Wilcox that his desire to kill Mr. Pence "was just something that built up over a period of time."

Jury selection in the case began Monday and concluded Tuesday morning. Robert Edward Pence Jr., a friend of Denby's, was the first witness for Prosecutor Stephen Mudge of the state's attorney's office.

Lloyd testified that the day after Mr. Pence was murdered, Denby came to Lloyd's office and said he thought he had murdered a man in Granite City and wanted to see the body.

Other witnesses for the prosecution included investigating officers, detectives who alleged Denby confessed to them, and a crime laboratory technician who said blood on the baseball bat matched the victim's blood type.

Denby's brother-in-law, Kenneth Bruggemann, Roxana, also testified on conversations he had with Denby.

The pathologist who performed the autopsy on Mr. Pence is expected to testify today. The state will likely conclude its case tomorrow morning and the defense will begin its case.

Numerous character witnesses are expected to be presented, officials said.

The case is expected to go to the jury late Monday or Tuesday morning, Attorney S. Russell Meyer of Alton is handling the defense.

Both company and union officials said today they are ready to resume talks whenever they are notified that a meeting has been arranged. Plans for further meetings will be arranged by the U.S. Mediation Service at St. Louis which had entered the dispute before talks were broken off, resulting in the strike.

Demands for higher wages and fringe benefits are at issue.

Extend decision on jail for 90 days

Proponents and opponents of saving the old Madison County Jail were given more time to gather their arguments as the Madison County Board unanimously yesterday to defer any action on the future of the old building for 90 days.

The county is considering demolishing, selling or rehabilitating the old jail and former sheriff's living quarters, which have served the county for over a century.

Several historical groups are urging that the structure be saved and have applied for money to either purchase or rehabilitate the structure.

Most of the building has been nominated for inclusion in the National Register of Historic Places and a final ruling on the nomination is expected soon.

In granting the 90-day extension, the board in a validated action taken by the county buildings committee to advertise for bids for sale of the jail. Committee members were told they had no authorization to call for the bids.

Visiting coaches looking forward to tourney

GRANITE CITY — The St. Louis Cardinals have their St. Petersburg. The SIU Salukis have their Arizona. SIU-Edwardsville goes through the Cotton Belt. On the prep level, however, things aren't quite so glamorous. For instance, Greene County Tech of Arkansas and St. Mary High of Paducah, Ky. take their yearly spring baseball trip to Granite City? Yup. Good ol' GC. Both southern schools will take part for the second straight season in the annual Granite City South Round-Robin baseball tournament this Friday and Saturday at diamonds in Wilson Park and at South. And the visiting coaches, who'll be joined by Bob Stegemeier of Granite North and Babe Champion of South are tickled to be coming. "Our main reason for going is because of the caliber of the competition," said Greene County coach

Larry Elmore. "The teams we play up there are exceptional. The experience of getting away from our own area is also good for us." St. Mary coach Rich

Durbin echoed Elmore's comments. "We found out last year up there just how good we were and what we had to do to get better," he said. "We got smoked by the two Granite City schools and beat Greene County." St. Mary went into last year's tournament with an impressive 7-0 record and had never been in trouble in any of its games. The thrashings the Vikings took at the hands of Granite North and South sobered them up in a hurry. South beat them 12-4 and North clobbered them 14-4. The Vikings are undefeated heading into this year's tournament, also (pending the outcome of today's game scheduled for Paducah). But they don't have quite the record they possessed last time around.

Thank Mother Nature, for that. Rain-outs have resulted in St. Mary only being able to play three games so far this season. "It's hard to tell too much at all about your team after only three games," said Durbin. "But I have a feeling we might be able to show ourselves a little better than we did last year. I hope so, at least."

Cougars, Bears split college doubleheader

By KEVIN ALLEN

GRANITE CITY — "Give us a double," SIUE coach Bo Collins called to catcher Tom Burg as the Cougars' leading hitter approached the plate. It was the ninth inning of the nightcap to the Cougars' doubleheader against Southwest Missouri State played at the well-manicured diamond at Granite City South.

The Cougars had sneaked by Southwest in the first game, winning 3-2 on the strength of a seventh-inning surge.

Now Collins wanted one more tricky finish. He wasn't kidding about the double. The Cougars needed it desperately. SIUE had seen an early 7-2 lead evaporate when Southwest's Bears came back with five runs in the sixth to even the score.

And after an extra inning and a half SIUE found itself two runs down and sinking fast.

But in the bottom of the ninth the Cougars' first two batters reached base safely. And up walked Burg.

As has been his habit lately, Burg gave Collins what he wanted. A sharp line drive to the left-field fence warmed the chilly night air at the Granite City park, sending home Cougar Larry Maden and leaving Tom Ritzheimer and Burg perched on third and second.

That, however, was the end of the Cougars' magic. The rally fizzled, as SIUE left two runners stranded, and lost to the Bears 9-8.

"We should have come out of this with two wins," a dejected Collins said after the loss. "Our hitting was good — like it's been all season. What hurt was our pitching."

It was wounds inflicted by SIUE pitching that finally killed the Cougars.

In Southwest's big sixth inning, three of its five runs were walked in. The first five Bears batters received a free pass to first.

The Bears' third run of the inning came home when SIUE's shortstop Maden kicked a potential double-play ball off the bat of Granite Cityan Keith Champion.

The first three walks in the inning were given up by SIUE starting pitcher John Mueller, who, up to that point, had allowed Southwest only two runs on four hits. But even after Mueller was replaced by Ted Smith, who moved to the mound from the shortstop position, the Cougars still had trouble setting the Bears down.

"We just don't have a lot of depth in our pitching staff," Collins said. "It was obvious tonight, and it's been that way all year."

Smith and the Cougars did finally settle down, though. As through two extra innings the score remained tied at seven runs apiece.

It wasn't until the ninth until the stalemate was broken. That's when the Bears put together a lead-off double by Dave Schneider, and single by Bill Burton for a run. They added another — the eventual game winner — when Mark Garrett singled in Burton.

The Cougars seemed poised ready to come from behind to win the game in the bottom half of the inning, especially after Burg's double.

Tom Ritzheimer followed Burg with a walk to load the bases, but the Cougars' rally was silenced quickly.

SIUE's Roger Thomas shot the ball back to the mound. Pitcher Dave Dickensheet knocked it down, gathered it up and threw to Champion at home for a force out. Champion delivered the ball to third baseman Tom Winkleman for another force out. Dickensheet fired in a row. Your guess is as good as mine. When you figure it out give me an answer."

"After Burg hit he double I went wrong. You tell me how we walked five in a row. Your guess is as good as mine. When you figure it out give me an answer."

"I know how he (Collins) feels," Southwest coach said. "That's how I felt after the first game. We should have won the first game and they should have won the second."

SIUE's chance to be the victors instead of victims came in the opener: Southwest led after the first inning, as a pair of doubles by Bobby Marron and Schneider gave the Bears a 1-0 lead.

But the Cougars came back with a run in the bottom of the first on Burg's single and Gary Hadjuk's double.

Southwest jumped ahead again in the second as Mike Garrett singled, Marron walked, and Schneider again singled home Garrett.

Cahokia downs North

The Granite City North boys and girls track teams both fell to Gateway East Conference rival Cahokia here Wednesday. The boys lost 83-63, while the Steelers lost 72-55.

In the boys' meet, the Steelers managed six first places. North's Mike York was a double-winner, taking first in both the high jump and the long jump. His height in the high jump was 6'2", while his distance in the long jump was 20-4½. Finishing second behind him in the high jump was Cahokia's Perkins at 5-8, while Hibbler of the Comanches was second in the long jump at 19-9.

In the two mile run, North's Bruce DeRuntz was the winner in 10:56.4. Teammate Paul Hooster finished second in 10:59.3.

In the 800 yard run, North had another one-two finish. Jon Buchn was the winner in 2:07, while Glenn Thompson was second in 2:08.

North's 880 relay team was the winner of its event in a time of 1:38.5. Members of that squad are Tim Boyce, Doug Shepard, John Kafalas and Kevin Buchanan.

Buchanan finished second in the 100 meter dash in 11.7 seconds. Gilmore of Cahokia was the winner in 11.6. North also won the mile relay. The squad of Bunch, Thompson, Mark McWhorter and Tim Dudley ran it in a time of 3:39.9.

Cahokia's 440 relay team edged North's squad. The Comanches finished with a time of 46 seconds, one full second ahead of the Steelers.

Hooster finished second in a time of 5:08. Brown of Cahokia was the winner in 5:01.8. Buchanan was second in the 220 yard dash behind Gilmore. The Granite runner's time was 24.4 seconds, compared to 23.6 for Gilmore.

In the shot put, Jackson of North finished second with a toss of 42'9½". Hunt of Cahokia was the winner with a throw of 46-7. Hunt also won the discus throw with a distance of 124-9½. Rensing of North was second at 117-1½".

In the triple jump, North's York finished in second place behind Hibbler of Cahokia. York's leap was 91-1, while Hibbler's was 42-11. In the pole vault, Perkins of Cahokia was the winner at a height of 11 feet. North's Mike Robinson also vaulted 11 feet, but required more attempts to do it.

The next action for the Steelers is scheduled for Friday at home against Southwest Conference school Belleville west, beginning at 4 p.m.

Trojans finish 5th at Wood River meet

WOOD RIVER — The Madison Trojan boys track team finished fifth here Wednesday in the annual Orv Yokum Relays at Wood River High.

O'Fallon was the easy winner with 140 points. Wood River had 80, Collinsville 63, Macoutah 56, Madison 41, Highland 36, Roxana 21, Wesclin 15, Bethalto 13, Hillsboro 12½, Waterloo 12½ and Jerseyville 8.

The trio of Troy Butler, Charles Dixon and Darnell Dixon won the long jump relay with a combined total of 57'8¾". O'Fallon was second at 57-5.

The Trojans' triple jump relay team of Butler, Darnell Dixon and Elmer Collins finished third at 35-6. O'Fallon had the highest total at 122-½. Butler was the event medalist with a leap of 41-9½".

Madison's Terrence Haynes, Charles Dixon, Richard Borney and Butler finished second in the 440 relay in 46.5. O'Fallon was first at 46.4. The Trojans were also second in the 800 relay behind O'Fallon. The Trojans had a time of 1:39.2, while the Panthers had a 1:37.1. Members of Madison squad were Tyrone Manzy, Charles Dixon, Borney and Butler.

Madison was sixth in the 440 heavyweight relay. Runners had to be at least 190 pounds to qualify. The squad of Orlando Simms, John Latham, Jeff Robertson and Bernard Harper ran it in 52.6. O'Fallon was the winner in 50.2.

The mile and two mile relays, two of Madison's normally best events, might have cost the Trojans some points. Because of the absence of one regular runner, Madison was not able to field a team in either.

Prep stars feature familiar faces

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — The second edition of the Press-Record's All-Quad City has quite a few familiar faces on it. Of the ten players named to the squad, six are returnees from last year's premier unit.

The list of second-year all-stars included co-captains Dennis Page of Granite City North and Donald Gardner of Venice, Mike Robertson of North Morris Hughes of Madison and James Blasingame and Lee Heubner of Granite City South.

The list of newcomers includes two sophomores (Archie Gardner and Patrick Joe Hatter) and two seniors (Kevin Greene and Kevin Wigfall).

This year's team reflects the sweeping trend toward quick players who can jump and possess enough shooting and ballhandling skills to play away from the hoop.

Even though there is no player on the squad taller than 6'4", at least six of them can dunk the ball. But most also have the ability to control the ball in the back court.

"The day is gone when a big kid can dominate the game by just standing around the basket and waiting for the ball to hit him in the head," a well-known college coach recently said. "Now, colleges are looking for the kids who can play away from the ball, shoot from 25 feet. And they want their bigger men to be mobile."

The squad is headlined by the two captains, whose style of play differs, but the result does not — they are genuine prep thoroughbreds. Donald Gardner and Dennis Page both began starting on their respective varsity squads as sophomores. Both led their teams in scoring as sophomores. The similarities don't end there.

Both Page and Gardner are from basketball-rich family traditions. Gardner is one of many of the same surname who have worn the red and white of Venice through the years. He's not the last of the Gardner brothers, either. That distinction belongs to another member of the squad. Brother Archie Gardner, another super soph.

Page isn't the first of his lineage to wear the grey and black of GCHS North's Steelers. He had two brothers who wore it before him.

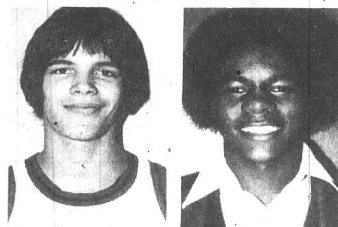

Blasingame is one of three South Warriors to make the squad. Even though his production fell off a bit this season from last, he was still one of the most feared shooters in the area. A streak shooter, his 20-footers from the baseline sparked many a South rally and nearly pulled off one of the biggest upsets of the season when the Warriors fell in overtime to eventual Sweet Sixteen finalist East St. Louis Lincoln in the Collinsville Class AA Regional.

One of Blasingame's teammates, Lee Heubner, was also a feared shooter. Standing 6-3, he played the role of the swingman on Coach Don Deterding's squad. He could perform well at either the back court spot or at forward. His long-range shots almost single-handedly sparked the Warriors in their effort against Lincoln and helped lead South to wins over such powers as Cahokia.

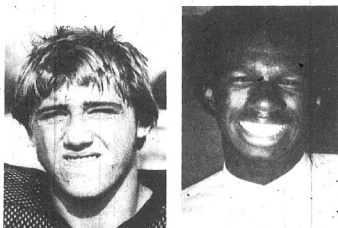

Newcomer Kevin Greene didn't see much action as a junior. But this season, opposing teams saw all too much of him. The feisty 6-2 forward seemed at times fearless on the court, driving the middle against the likes of Lincoln's giant front line or Madison intimidating defense. Oh sure, lots of players tried it from time to time, but there was one difference. Greene scored, again and again.

North's Robertson combined with Page to make up his team's one-two scoring punch. When one might have an off-game, the other would be there to take up the slack. A strong rebounder who possesses a soft shooting touch, Robertson has the look of a natural.

Hughes of Madison will most likely be a three-year All-Star when the 1981 edition is released a year hence. A first team member last season, he returns this year. Playing either at center or forward, he made things happen for the Trojans, who finished fourth in the Class A State Finals in Champaign. Going into this season, much was written about the talented junior. But some of the pressure was taken off him when a certain teammate came into his own. That teammate was

Patrick Joe Hatter, "another junior. He possesses the ability to do it all. In fact, if not for him, the Trojans might not have made their trip to the U of I Assembly Hall." Last month, in Madison's Supersectional game against Lawrenceville, Hatter brought his team back from the ashes of defeat, scoring their last 16 points as MHS won the game in overtime.

Venice star Kevin Wigfall is another player who could do it all. He was one of the top scorers in the St. Louis area this season and wowed opposing players and fans alike with his twisting, turning moves to the basket. In Venice's narrow loss to Madison in the regional final, Wigfall made a particular move to the hoop that fans will be talking about for quite some time. Catching the ball over the "wrong" shoulder, he did a 180 degree

It could have been 'GC Night'

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — It was college night at Granite City

South last night, but it could have been Granite City night for the colleges involved.

The four home town products represented on the SIUE and Southwest Missouri State squads were evenly divided.

For the Cougars of SIUE, former Granite Cityans Tom Greco and John Lakin represented the city.

For the Bears of Southwest, two Champions, Kirk and brother Keith, were the Granite City contingent.

As if in the interest of civic fairness, the two teams split the double header. But aside from a few brief flashes, the local boys didn't make out so well.

Not that they did poorly. The Granite City group just didn't figure largely in the outcomes of the two games.

Southwest's homegrown products comparatively made the better showing. Catcher Keith Champion went hitless in eight trips to the plate, but defensively he helped the Bears, cutting down a stealing Cougar at second base and combining with teammates on a ninth-inning double play that thwarted a SIUE comeback attempt in the second game.

Brother Kirk, Southwest's pitching coach, saw the ace of his pitching corps, fire-throwing Dale Lopinot, lose in the bottom of the seventh in the first game.

But the Bears pitchers — four of them at least — were formidable enough to persevere a 9-8 win in the second game.

For the Cougars the only Granite City highlight came in the seventh inning of the first game, when Greco pinch ran for Roger Thomas and scored the tying run.

Lakin, a knuckleballing pitcher, sat out of both games so that he could start for SIUE against Southeast Missouri State tomorrow. Kirk Champion may have been summing up the somewhat mundane performances of the returning Granite Cityans as talked about the outcome of the first game.

"It's kind of a tough way to go," Champion said about his team's close loss. "It's better than being beat with an error, but it's still tough. That's just the way it works out sometimes, though." He might just as well have been talking about coming home.

CARDINAL STAR Dan Dierdorf is flanked by two members of the Clean Craft Cleaners' women's softball team Sunday at a 'fun' game between the Big Red and the Granite City team in St. Louis. At left is Diane Choat, at right Jackie White. The game was arranged by Rawlings Sporting Goods of St. Louis.

brothers are graduates of South and their dad is "Babe" Champion, head baseball coach of the Warriors.

Speedway begins programs

By JEFF EAVES
for the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — Dick Taylor of Springfield, Ill., will defend his 1979 track title Saturday night as the late model stocks and the sportsman cars compete at the Tri-City Speedway. Races begin at 7:30 p.m.

Joe Ross of Mechanicsburg, Ill., C. C. Corbin of E. Alton, Ill., Len Gittermeier of St. Charles, Mo., Kenny Shrum of St. Charles, Mo., Mike Standridge of Springfield, and Kevin Gundaker of St. Louis, Mo., Chuck Milow of Granite City, a crowd favorite of many years at the speedway, will also run in the late model division.

Rob Jones of Creve Coeur, Mo., will also defend his 1979 track title in the sportsman division which is to be held on the half-mile track.
Jones, who dominated the racing last year, will have his hands full this year as driver Paul Humphrey Sr., of Dupu, Ill., will be out after the title.

There will be a full field of Granite City drivers, competing at the speedway. Among them are Mike Johns, Rod Bailey and his brother Randy, Mark Jones, Paul Humphrey Jr. and Randy Weeks.
Promoter Gil Rimmel expects a full field of cars in both divisions and a record crowd for opening night.

Kickers receive full-rides

GRANITE CITY — Granite City South soccer players Tony Pierce and Jack Burnett have each received NCAA full-ride scholarships to play at major universities next fall.
Pierce was named as an All-American goalie this year by Parade Magazine, has decided to attend the University of Connecticut next fall. Burnett, a starter on all of South's four-straight state championship teams, will play for the University of Evansville (Ind.).
According to both players, the main reason they chose their particular schools was academic, not athletic. "I wanted to find the school that had the best of both," said Burnett. "Evansville has what I want and it's getting to be one of the top soccer schools in the country."

Burnett plans a career in computer engineering.
Last fall, Evansville made a name for itself in the soccer world. An NCAA Division I school, it defeated number-one ranked Alabama-Birmingham and eventual national champion Southern Illinois-Edwardsville.
Pierce, who plans a career in medicine, chose Connecticut for its excellent premed program and a rich soccer tradition. "They have one of the oldest soccer programs in the country," he said. "And a good medical program."

Both Pierce and Burnett had to consider a large number of college offers. But both narrowed the field down to three or four before making their choices. Pierce's final three were Cornell, Evansville and Connecticut. Burnett narrowed it down to Indiana, South Florida, Northern Illinois and Evansville.
While both players are at the top of the prep world, they realize they will have their work cut out for them when they arrive at their respective colleges. "They told me there are serious positions open," said Burnett of Evansville. "But I'll have to earn a spot."

Pierce has had the advantage of seeing the two goalies he'll have to beat out for the top spot. "When I went out there to look, they were playing indoor soccer and I got to see the two coaches didn't promise me anything, but I think my chances are good."

Visiting

Judging from the outcomes of St. Mary's three games, the Vikings could have the right blend of powerful hitting and strong pitching. Through three games, they have scored 27 runs and allowed four.

"Our first six hitters are batting over .400," said Durbin. "Of course, that will probably change after we get a few more games in, but it shows we are hitting the ball well right now."
Two of St. Mary's victories have been pitched by senior hurler Mike McNinn, who has allowed three hits in eight innings of work. One of those wins was against Metropolis, Ill., the only

Illinois school St. Mary plays aside from the two in the Granite City tourney. Durbin believes that teams like Granite City North and South could probably win the Kentucky state championship. "That's one reason we go up there," he said. "I saw both the Granite City schools last year and we beat them. We don't really have what you could call a 'stopper' on the staff, though."

up there could have won our championship.
Greene County's Elmore will field a team that has won five in a row after dropping its first two games of the season. That with a pitching staff with a nary a senior on it.
"Our pitchers are young, but they've been able to pull us through lately," said Elmore. "We don't really have what you could call a 'stopper' on the staff, though."

St. Peter Church names new pastor

The Rev. James R. Brown officially assumed his duties as new pastor of St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ, 21st Street and Cleveland Boulevard, Wednesday, and will hold his first service there on Sunday, April 20, it was announced by church officials.

He was born August 20, 1947, in Little Rock, Ark., and was graduated from high school in Webster Groves, Mo.

Rev. Brown was ordained into the ministry in 1976 by the United Methodist Church. He has served churches in Camden and Marysville, Ark., and most recently has been a teacher in the Blawie Junior High and Mehlville Senior High School, St. Louis. He holds life teaching certificates in the areas of English, Latin, speech and drama issued by the Missouri State Board of Education.

REV. JAMES BROWN

The pastor received a B.A. Degree in 1969 from Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., a M.Th. Degree in 1974 from Perkins School of Theology (S.M.U.), Dallas, Texas. He has done graduate studies at University of Arkansas, University of Missouri, Hendrix College, Ark., and Eden Theological Seminary, Webster Groves.

He enjoys being active in community affairs and has worked with the Lions Club and Boy Scouts of the U.S.A.,

according to an announcement from the church.

His wife, Karen, is currently serving as organist and choir director for St. Peter Church.

The couple have two sons, James Eric and Mark Edward.

Sunday will mark the first Sunday for Rev. Brown to serve as pastor of the church and the last day for Rev. Mary Bruggemann, who has been acting interim pastor during the past five and one-half months. They will share participation during the worship service which will start at 10:15 a.m. The public is welcome, church officers noted.

Circle seeks clothing donations

Truth Circle of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church met at the home of Mrs. Betty Williams, with Mrs. Wanda Groothuis presiding. Reporting from the executive committee meeting, Mrs. Groothuis encouraged the women to attend May Fellowship Luncheon at Central Christian Church on May 2.

The theme for this year's meeting is, "Spirit of the Lord is Upon Me", with guest speaker Phyllis Vierchiller. This luncheon is sponsored by Church Women United each year, the leader announced.

Church Women United is also in need of clean lightweight children's clothing; the blood bank will be held July 1 and 2, with specific time to be established at a later date. Niedringhaus United Methodist Women will donate ten blankets for the Church Women United this year, Mrs. Groothuis added.

The annual Ladies Style Show and Banquet of Niedringhaus United Methodist Women will be held May 8 in Wesley Hall. Mrs. Judy Stille of Tops 'n Bottoms Shop will provide the fashions for the style show, it was noted.

Lesson for the evening was from Response magazine and titled, "Why Boycott?" by Elaine Magalis. The word "boycott" originated in 1880 when Captain Charles Cunningham Boycott served eviction notices on his tenants who then joined together to isolate him, making his life generally unpleasant and forcing him to hire outside workers, thus "boycott" became a household word, the speaker explained.

Devotions were taken from the book, "Worship Time for Families" titled, Hands written by Lucy Bickel, based on Ecclesiastes 9:10. Evelyn Hamrick, bazaar representative for Truth Circle, noted that workshops are now being held, and urged all to get an early start in making items for the bazaar.

Members were asked to remember the many members of the circle who are ill in their homes and hospitals.

The hostess served refreshments to Mesdames Dorothy Frohardt, Gladys Wallace, Jan Livingston, Maxene Hacke, Evelyn Hamrick, Wanda Groothuis, guest Pearl Campbell, and a new member, Miss Dorothy Davis.

Road deaths being reduced

By TROOPER
JAMES G. GALLO

In 1979 Illinois had a reduction of 118 traffic fatalities. Strict enforcement of the 55 mph speed limit and voluntary compliance with traffic laws by many motorists were contributing factors.

During March 1980, there were 114 traffic fatalities statewide, and there were a total of 350 traffic fatalities during the first quarter of this year.

State Police District Eleven had a total of seven fatalities during March — four in Madison County, and one each in Montgomery, Macoupin and St. Clair counties. There were no fatalities in Bond, Clinton, Greene, Jersey and Monroe counties.

Captain Glenn H. Huffman, commander, Illinois State Police, District Eleven, Maryville, will continue to initiate and implement enforcement programs which will be utilized by the troopers in their efforts to further reduce traffic fatalities by strict enforcement of the drunk driving laws and the 55 speed limit.

Seek rent boost at Tower Lake

Higher rental rates for university housing units have been proposed at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The SIU Board of Trustees received a proposal Thursday which would raise rates $9 per month per student in the typical two-bedroom, four-student unit at Tower Lake, effective Sept. 1.

The board deferred its action at the May 8 meeting of the trustees, to be held at the university's East St. Louis Center.

Also held for consideration in May was a proposed increase of $1 per quarter in the activity fee assessed of residents in university housing. The increase would be effective in the fall quarter.

The increases proposed in rental rates are based on inflationary pressures, maintenance cost increases, and the state-mandated phaseout of tuition retention funds.

The phaseout of retained tuition funds committed to support university housing will be instituted in the 1980-81 fiscal year. University officials said this will amount to a reduction of $32,000 in funds previously used to support housing operations.

Currently, the rental rate is $69 per month per student in a two-bedroom, four-student unit.

In the family housing units, the rate is $177 per month for a two-bedroom, unfurnished apartment. This rate would be increased to $200 per month under the proposal.

Other rates in the family and single student housing areas would be increased proportionately under the plan.

The housing activity fee, which subsidizes operation of the Tower Lake bus service, and supports activities and programs for Tower Lake residents, is currently $3 per quarter and has not been increased since its creation in September 1969.

The suggested increase of $1 is for fall, winter and spring quarters. The summer quarter activity fee would remain unchanged in the plan.

Costs of operating the bus service have increased to the point that programming and activities for residents can no longer be financed without an increase in the activity fee, the board was told.

Arrest follows auto accident

William L. Jones, 25, of 2712 Denver St., was charged with leaving the scene of an injury accident, driving on a suspended driver's license and following too closely after his car allegedly struck the rear of the stopped car of Beverly Wickham, 2336 Denver St., at Denver Street and Rock Road at 6:50 p.m. Thursday.

Beverly Wickham said she stopped her northbound car for the stop sign and the other car struck her auto from behind.

One man at the accident scene allegedly struck her several times with a cast on his arm, causing a cut to her nose. She was taken by a Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where she was admitted for observation.

The driver of the auto which struck her car allegedly walked from the scene. Jones was arrested at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at 23rd Street and Missouri Avenue and was charged with the traffic violations. The man who struck the woman with the cast has not been charged.

APARTMENT THEFT

A television set and a cassette radio and a combination tape player were stolen from the home of Darryl Black, 175 Lee Wright Homes, Venice, it was discovered at 1 a.m. Saturday. There were no signs of forced entry.

Once ashore, Army personnel treated the victim until an ambulance arrived and she was transported to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Granite City, where she was pronounced dead. The Army will competitively test and evaluate Despite quick action and heroic efforts by a team of soldiers, an Illinois woman died after plunging from the McKinley Bridge into the swift current of the Mississippi River this month. The tragedy has saddened all, but the Army personnel who aided local civilians are being recognized for their willingness to help in an emergency.

The soldiers are working out of the St. Louis Area Support Center, Granite City. They normally are stationed at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., and are here to test and evaluate work boats for use with the Army's Ribbon Bridge.

They and other Army and civilian personnel are being supported by the St. Louis-based U.S. Army Troop Support and Aviation Material Readiness Command.

The woman's plight was brought to the attention of the boat crew by Venice firemen.

Senior boat operator is Staff Sergeant James Blackwood and his crew is composed of Sergeant Kenneth Vallett-Fandre, Privates First Class Norman La Plante and Kenny Harvey, and Specialist-4 Anthony Campbell.

The five sped across the river to a position under the first span nearest the Missouri side, almost directly below where a Venice policeman was attempting to talk with the individual.

Sgt. Vallett-Fandre pulled the woman from the water, commenting, "She never went out of sight."

"She was breathing but unconscious," added soldier medic PFC Harvey, "and appeared in deep shock."

Once ashore, Army personnel treated the victim until an ambulance arrived and she was transported to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Granite City, where she was pronounced dead. The Army will competitively test and evaluate

American and British made boats in the Mississippi River this month and next month to determine which best meets the requirements associated with the Ribbon Bridge.

Slow water testing to determine the craft's ability to serve as the bridge workboat was completed in an area where the Susquehanna River joins the Chesapeake Bay at Aberdeen Proving Ground.

The Army established a requirement for this type of craft in 1972. Development testing of the Ribbon Bridge itself was concluded in the fall of 1975 and it has since been deployed to U.S. forces within the United States, and overseas in Germany and Korea.

Currently, the Army uses what is known as a standard two-piece riveted aluminum craft in conjunction with the Ribbon Bridge.

American-made craft undergoing testing and evaluation are manufactured by the Aluminum Company of America (Alcoa).

The one-piece welded aluminum boats are 26 feet long with an 11-foot beam and a draft of 25 inches. The Alcoa version is powered by twin 4-53 Detroit Diesel engines and attains speeds up to 17 miles per hour.

The British craft is also a one-piece welded aluminum boat, 25 feet long, with an eight-foot beam and a draft of 22 inches.

It is powered by two Sabre Marine 212 turbocharged diesel engines and attains speeds up to 25 miles an hour. Unlike the American craft, which is driven by propellers, the British use jets of water, propelled at high pressure through hydroports.

During the Mississippi River "fast water" evaluation program, the craft will undergo technical and functional testing.

The technical tests will gauge maneuverability, speed, turning radius, thrust, endurance and stability.

The functional tests will include the craft's use for assembling and disassembling the bridge, propelling bridge sections into place, transportation of the bridge's accessories, and deployment of the bridge anchoring system.

Each of the craft to be evaluated has a three-man military crew consisting of an operator and two assistant operators. Also scheduled to participate in a separate program under the direction of the Army Training and Doctrine Command are soldiers from the 522nd Engineer Company, Fort Knox, Ky.

Currently, this unit has 20 Ribbon Bridge transporters, 10 internal Ribbon Bridge bays, four ramp bays, six boat cradles and four standard riveted two-piece aluminum boats.

These standard boats are 27 feet long with an eight-foot beam and a 41-inch draft. They are powered by twin 3-53 Detroit Diesel engines that propel the craft up to 16 miles per hour.

The Army Troop Support and Aviation Material Readiness Command, based in St. Louis, will be providing the U.S. Army Test and Evaluation Command with the local support required to complete the testing program.

Man arrested after scuffle with police

Mike S. Hall, 25, of 2014 Buxton Ave., was charged with criminal trespass to property and battery after a disturbance at 1:35 a.m. Friday in an apartment building at 2015 Washington Ave.

Linda Tutka, who resides in an apartment at that address, alleged Hall beat her and then refused to leave her apartment.

Police found Hall in the apartment and pieced him to gather his items and leave, it was related. They alleged he stalled, used profanity and insulted the officers for about 20 minutes. When he finally was ready to leave, he allegedly complained of abdominal pain and fell to the floor. He refused to allow police to call an ambulance for him, used abusive language and kept officers at the scene for another 25 to 30 minutes before they decided to arrest him. It was alleged, when they attempted to arrest him, he wrestled with them until he was handcuffed.

Hall was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where doctors examined him and concluded he was not ill, according to police reports. Officers alleged he then became angry, disagreed with the doctors, grabbed a bottle from a shelf and backed into a corner, threatening to break it and cut himself or anyone who came after him.

Officers and a security guard talked to him about 10 minutes but could not calm him. He then ran out of the emergency room and was captured in the hall outside, police said.

Hall was taken to the Granite City Police Department and was lodged. Officers said Linda Tutka suffers bruises to her forehead and jaw, a bloody lip and a torn fingernail.

Closed-captions new to ABC, NBC and PBS

Most viewers never knew the difference, but some 20 hours of prime-time programming on ABC, NBC and PBS are now being "closed-captioned" for the deaf and hearing-impaired.

This means that persons with a hearing problem may purchase a captioning adapter (Sears, Roebuck & Co. advertises it) marked under the name "TeleCaption" in their spring-summer catalogue in order to watch television and read the dialogue — much in the way foreign films have subtitles. The adapter, which retails for about $250 and can be attached to any television set, receives the transmission signals of programs that include the captioning. Because the captions are in the form of an electronic code, they are visible only to viewers with the adapters; sets not so equipped are not affected, hence the term "closed-captioning."

In order to prepare a program for captioning, the network furnishes one of the National Captioning Institute's centers (located in Falls Church, Va., and Hollywood, Calif.) with a cassette of the program prior to air date. The center encodes the program dialogue into captions that are recorded on a magnetic disc. The disc is returned to the institute's center, where it is inserted electronically into the television picture and then transmitted along with the

A TeleCaption adapter enables any television set to display captions on selected shows that will be broadcast on ABC, NBC and PBS. Sets not equipped with the adapter will not be affected.

normal video and audio portions of the program. NCI has coordinated the efforts of ABC, NBC and PBS so that all three broadcasters will have a minimum of schedule conflicts, thus enabling the hearing-impaired to take fullest advantage of the project. Programs will be identified in TV listings with the words "closed-captioned" (or simply "C.C.") and/or the symbol shown at the end of this article.

The cost to the networks is about $750,000 each, which includes the cost of captioning, additional transmission and other ancillary costs. The NCI plans to work with the Lion's Club International and the National PTA to arrange for financial aid to those individuals unable to afford the adapter.

The programs currently selected to be made available with the captioning are as follows:

On ABC: "Eight Is Enough," "Vegas," "Barney Miller," "Three's Company," and "The ABC Sunday Night Movie." On NBC: "Disney's Wonderful World," "NBC Monday Night at the Movies," "United States," "Real People" and "Different Strokes."

And on PBS: "Masterpiece Theater," "Once Upon a Classic," "Odyssey," "Nova" and "Mystery!"

All three will also closed-caption certain specials when possible. CBS is conspicuously absent from the group of broadcasters that is working with the NCI. That network is holding out while it tests an adapter that receives many different electronic signals, rather than one limited to captions only. This type of teletext system, as it's called, would provide multiple uses for the general audience as well as the hearing-impaired. CBS is currently conducting tests of the system.

Cyd Charisse is set to host health series

The second season of public television's "Here's to Your Health," the consumer self-care series offering sound, understandable and sometimes entertaining health advice, will begin Saturday, April 19, on PBS.

The series will again feature guest hosts along with regular co-hosts, Dr. Al Roberts and Dr. Anne Race, both of the University of Texas Health Science Center at Dallas, to provide viewers with health information. Guest host for the first six half-hour programs is Cyd Charisse. One of the most durable of American entertainers, actress and dancer Cyd Charisse has had major roles in more than 25 feature films, including "East Side West Side," "Singin' in the Rain," "Silk Stockings" and "The Slencers." A classically trained dancer, Miss Charisse began her career with the Ballet Russe before breaking into motion pictures with "Something to Shout About" in 1942. She brings her infectious charm, as well as her commitment to good health and physical fitness, to serve as narrator.

"As a dancer, I know the value and necessity of keeping yourself healthy," says Miss Charisse. "I learned a long time ago the connection between staying well and living well, and I want to share some of my secrets with you. I'm healthy with the 'Here's to Your Health' audience."

Actor Peter Guber will host the second seven shows in the series. He'll be joined by Cheryl Tiegs for a special hour-long health quiz later in the season.

The expanded coverage of the 1980 edition of "Here's to Your Health" will include more location segments, increased use of animation and more dramatizations to help viewers better understand how to take care of themselves. The crew will visit research centers, hospitals, classrooms and special treatment clinics throughout the country, and many of the nation's medical experts will join Drs. Race and Roberts to offer viewers straightforward health-care advice.

"The 1970s saw an unprecedented public demand for health information," says executive producer David Lowe. "Americans are determined to live longer, healthier and more satisfying lives. A major thrust of 'Here's to Your Health' is to show people how they can prevent serious health problems. We are trying to show not only what causes disease, but what promotes good health. The accent of the series is positive."

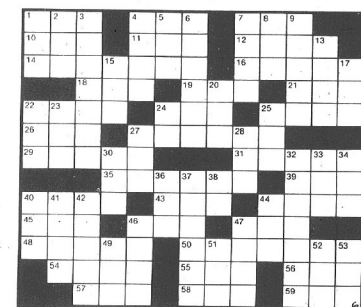

The subjects of the first six programs in the series include "Everyday Aches and Pains," "Understanding Diabetes," a special two-part program on "The Mysteries of Sleep," "Traveling Healthy" and "The Healthy Family."

TUESDAY

Bonnie Franklin stars in the title role in "Portrait of a Rebel: Margaret Sanger," a made-for-TV film depicting the life of the crusader for women's rights, Tuesday, April 22, on CBS. (Stations reserve the right to make last-minute changes.)

Meet April 29 on report that the state's future can be bright

"Illinois can have a future as bright as its past," says the Task Force on the Future of Illinois in its summary final report. The report will be reviewed at eight public meetings to be held across Illinois.

President Paul Schuler reports the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission will co-sponsor a meeting Tuesday, April 29, at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville which will review the findings and recommendations of the Task Force and provide citizens an opportunity to respond to the study of the state's future. The meetings are financially assisted by a grant under the Citizens Futures Studies program of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

Copies of the final report summary will be available at the public meeting.

The program, which will begin at 7 p.m. and end at approximately 9:30 p.m., will be held in the Madison Room of SIUE's University Center.

The Task Force "thinks it important to envision a new kind of future: one on increased responsibility, of willingness to plan the use of limited resources, a future of advanced technology and commitment to human beings," the report relates.

The Task Force on the Future of Illinois is a legislative commission created under Public Act 80-1046. It has 17 members, nine of whom are public citizens appointed by the governor; eight are state legislators.

The Task Force members includes Chairman George A. Ranney Jr. (Chicago), State Senator Howard Carroll (Chicago), former State Representative William L. Kempiners (Shorewood), Representative Calvin Skinner (Crystal Lake), Miles L. Berger (Chicago),

Robert C. Dryden (Aurora), Robert G. Gibson (Chicago), Senator Gene Johns (Marion), Senator Aldo DeAngelis (Chicago Heights), Senator Kenneth G. McMillan (Bushnell), Representative Daniel P. O'Brien (Chicago), Janet Oliver (Evanston), Jane Hayes Rader (Garden), Harold A. Richman (Chicago), Representative Bruce Richmond (Murfreesboro), Harold B. Steele (Princeton) and Charlie A. Thurston (Wheaton).

Amendments which will remove "routine requests for action" from the agenda of Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees' meetings have been approved by the board.

The board authorized changes in the university's Statutes and Code of Policy which will delegate to the chancellor authority to approve matters which do not require extended consideration.

They include changes in titles of programs, units and degrees; additions and eliminations of subacademic-major curricula; administrative reorganizations; and requests for off-campus program locations.

University officers explained that during the past five years, matters of this type generally have been considered on the board's agenda by motion without discussion. None has ever been controversial within the SIU system, and delegating authority for their approval to the chancellor is expected to save both time and money, it was asserted.

Under the amendments enacted, operational guidelines were approved which will require the chancellor to keep the board informed of his actions.

The chancellor is to enter, in the minutes of the regular board meetings, the titles of all reasonable and moderate extensions and requests for program locations approved.

The matters will also be the subject of an annual report. The amendments provide that administrative reorganizations approved by the chancellor are to be limited to those which do not increase the number of units of instruction, research or public service.

The guidelines also provide that in the development of requests for program extensions, the chancellor's office will be given an opportunity to determine if the proposals meet the requirements of the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

Predict fund shortage for clean up program

Adams said the board is opposed to giving the highway commissioner the entire $24,000 for the year in "one lump sum. There is nothing to keep you from spending it all in one lump sum," he stated.

Adams also said that under unusual circumstances, where costs exceed the funds available, Mehelic can come to the town board and ask for more money. "We would help you, if something should come up," Adams stated.

Mehelic said he will try the best he can with the $2,000 per month. If the funding proves insufficient, Mehelic stated, "It may come to a screaming halt."

The electors also passed a resolution authorizing the town board to transfer up to $6,500 from the town fund to the road and bridge fund for health projects to be approved by the township's board of health.

About 40 persons attended the annual town meeting and selected Ron Jachino as moderator. They authorized the board to sell two old trucks and a mosquito sprayer to whoever submits the highest bids for the items.

They also approved the sale of an old fire engine to the Long Lake Fire Department for $1 to be used for training and display purposes. The engine originally was sold by the fire department to the township to pump standing water from ponds.

MADISON BURGLARY
A portable television set worth $80 was stolen from the home of Bobby Jordan, 1431 Sixth St., Madison, between 4:30 and 6:30 p.m. Saturday. There were no signs of forced entry.

"I might have to close (the program) one week per month if there is no money for the landfill and fuel," he predicted.

Mehelic said the $2,000 per month barely pays the salaries of the two men who work in the program and does not pay for the gasoline, vehicle repairs, dumping charges or other expenses of the program.

Roof contract to Lakeside

Contracts have been awarded to two companies for roof replacement and remodeling for handicapped projects at SIUE. A report on the contracts, awarded by the Illinois Capital Development Board, was received Thursday by the SIU Board.

A contract for new roofs on Lovejoy Library and Peck Classroom Building was awarded to Lakeside Roofing Co., Granite City, for $281,000.

Eringer Construction Co., Belleville, with a bid of $84,800, received the contract for handicapped remodeling work in the SIUE campus core buildings, the Wagner Complex in Edwardsville, and the East St. Louis Center. The improvements are designed to bring the buildings into conformity with federal requirements.

A budget of $409,000, including architectural and engineering fees and contingency funds, was approved previously.

REDUCED GRADUATE TUITION APPROVED
An experimental policy permitting Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville to assess tuition at in-state rates for part-time graduate students living within the Missouri portion of the St. Louis Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (SMSA) was approved Thursday by the SIU Board. The Missouri portion of the SMSA is comprised of Franklin, Jefferson, St. Charles and St. Louis counties and the City of St. Louis.

The policy, which will be effective in the fall quarter, applies to graduate students registering for up to nine hours of study. Those who register for more than nine hours of study in a quarter will be assessed regular out-of-state tuition rates.

Currently, the out-of-state tuition rate is three times the in-state rate. In-state graduate students pay $73 tuition per quarter for one to five hours of study and $146 for six to 11 hours.

Venice schools still in running for their equal opportunity funds

By ALTHEA CROSS
Director, Title VII
Project Micro

A meeting sponsored in Chicago by the Equal Educational Opportunity Section of the Illinois State Board of Education was directed by Mrs. Patricia Woolford, manager, EEO. Among the many speakers was Dr. Shirley McCune, U.S. Office of Education, director of Elementary and Secondary Education Act programs throughout the nation.

Letters were mailed recently from the OE in Washington, D.C., to districts that had applied for Title VI funds for 1980-81. The contents of the letter to Venice Community Unit School District Three revealed that the district would have the opportunity to strengthen the needs assessment, by demonstrating conclusively that the needs are related to and stem from implementation of the Venice desegregation plan.

Funding would then be recommended for a period not to exceed one year. That has been the procedure for the past six years.

An original and two copies of the resubmitted application must be mailed and postmarked by April 28 in order to be accepted. In Illinois, there were four applications in Category I, 10 in Category II, and 13 in Category III. Venice is in rank order number 5 in Category III. Available funds were exhausted after 19.

In the reallocation process, applications not in the funding range could be eligible for funds which would be available on or before May 30.

The three categories are related to the years a district has been desegregated. Category I refers to districts desegregated less than six years, and Category III refers to districts that have been desegregated more than six years.

The Title II Proposals are now being reviewed in Washington, D.C. Mrs. Shirley Jackson, director of the Title II Programs, will conduct a session on basic skills programs at the International Reading Association meeting on Thursday morning, May 8, from 10:45 to 11:45 at the Convention Center, Room 124 (a co-sponsored meeting).

facility with the bandshell, which was one of several projects proposed for SWRP funding in the Capital Development Projects Plans approved by the board July 13, 1978.

The architect said consolidation would provide substantial cost savings compared to construction of the projects individually, and would result in more diversified usage.

The board authorized university officers to proceed with completion of plans, specifications and details of the combined project, utilizing the services of the Thompson firm.

A definite location for the structure has not been announced, but a site adjacent to the Communications Building is under consideration. The quonset building currently being used is west of North Drive, near the Housing Connector Road.

Bandshell planned

The theater performance facility project at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has been expanded to include a bandshell, at an estimated added cost of $150,000.

The SIU Board of Trustees made the decision Thursday and approved renaming the project the Performing Arts Facility.

The board granted project approval in March for construction of a performance facility for student theater and dance productions, to replace Tract 28, a converted quonset building currently being used for that purpose. The board also approved selection of Thompson Associates of Troy as architect.

Initially, funding of $350,000 was approved from Student Welfare and Recreation Funds (SWRF). During preliminary discussions the architect recommended consolidation of the theater performance

Escapes from police car

Madison police are searching for a young Granite City man who fled from a police car while being taken to the Madison Police Department at 5:05 p.m. Friday.

A patrolman saw the young man driving a car at Seventh Street and Alton Avenue and recognized him as being sought for an outstanding traffic warrant.

The officer asked the young man to get into the squad car to talk and he complied. They drove toward the police station, but at Third Street and Washington Avenue, when the squad car stopped for traffic, the young man jumped out of the car and fled, the officer reported. A search of the area was unsuccessful. Police returned to the car the young man had been driving and discovered that the license applied for sticker on the car had a fictitious name on it. Charges against the young man were prepared alleging escape, driving on a suspended driver's license, having fictitious license plates and no valid registration. He is being sought.

Advisory meeting set for Thursday

The Title I and Title VII district-wide advisory council meeting for the Venice school district will be held today at 1 p.m. at the Venice school library.

Co-Chairmen for the meeting are Charlotte Sunday and Ha Fleig. A discussion concerning re-submission for the Title VI program will be held. Re-submission must be made by April 28.

"We are working to strengthen needs assessment," said Althea Cross, director of the Title VII program.

BICYCLE SAFETY WEEK in Granite City will be highlighted by bicycle inspections and registration at McDonald's Restaurant, 1515 Johnson Road on Saturday, April 19, from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. Pictured from the left are John Voyles, president of the Granite City Optimist Club, John Winkle, manager of the local McDonald's Restaurant, and Officer Friendly (Fred Hoffman) of the Granite City Police Department.

Hurt in Nameoki-St. Clair crash

Cynthia Paschedag, 23, of 2424 State St., was injured when her car, northbound on Nameoki Road, collided with the auto of Nancy Ashby, 2841 Dogwood Drive, which was southbound and was turning left onto St. Clair Avenue at 5:15 p.m. Friday. Nancy Ashby was issued a ticket alleging failure to yield the right-of-way while making a left turn. Cynthia Paschedag was taken by a Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center with bleeding from her nose and pain to her head. X-rays were taken of her skull, spine and face and she was admitted for observation.

Downtown armed robbery

Two young men, one armed with a knife, took about $147 cash from Michael A. Paddett, Fontana, Calif., on the north side of the 7-Eleven store, 19th Street and Niedringhaus Avenue, at 11 p.m. Thursday.

Paddett said he had just arrived in town and was waiting for a friend from Alton to pick him up when the two approached and asked him if he had any marijuana. When he said he had none, one of the young men displayed the knife and asked if he had any money. They then removed his wallet from his trousers, took the cash from the wallet and threw the wallet away. They ran west on Niedringhaus.

Police searched the area but were unable to locate anyone matching the description. One was about 20 years old, about 5 feet, 9 inches tall, weighed about 170 pounds and had red frizzy hair. The other was about 18, was 5 feet, 6 inches tall and had short blond hair.

Revised agreement due between GC air board, state for enforcement

Granite City's Air Pollution Control Board and Illinois Environmental Protection Agency representatives will clarify enforcement responsibilities between the two agencies in an amendment to their present agreement, it was decided in a special meeting of the local air board Monday night.

Under the revision the state will take over the responsibility for calibrating and maintaining equipment used in continuous monitoring of air quality to assure more accurate data from throughout the state.

Officers are re-elected at club meeting

Officers of the YMCA Senior Citizens group were re-elected at a meeting last week.

Those remaining in office include President Juanita Crawley, Vice-President Viola Skaggs, Secretary Marie Stanek, Treasurer Elizabeth McCoy, Chaplain Bertha Mott and Financial Secretary Blanche Scantling.

Other business included reports by the secretary, treasurer and all committees.

Upcoming events discussed were the Senior Olympics, to be held May 14 and 15 at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville; the Senior Citizen's Fair, to be held May 16 at Firemen's Hall in Collinsville; and various trips to be taken in the future.

Those celebrating birthdays were Juanita Crawley, Bessie Grasso, Jean Seibold and Neva Wertha. Prizes were won by Bessie Grasso, Hazel Riden, Anna Velloff, Ron Lucas, Bert Mayfield and Margaret Lohochy.

The next meeting will be a potluck on Friday.

Discussing proposed revisions with local officials during the meeting were Dan Goodwin of the Illinois EPA office at Chicago and Walter Franke, Region Three EPA director of Collinsville.

Mrs. Paula Case, air pollution control engineer of the Granite City Board said changes in the state-city agreement will be drawn and then presented to the local board for review and approval.

The new agreement also is expected to give the city air pollution department the right to initiate enforcement actions against non-major pollution violations, while the EPA has the right to prosecute cases involving major violations which threaten life or property.

The new agreement primarily will involve three points of revision: (1) Clarification of differences in major and minor sources of violations; (2) A more stringent schedule of inspection, and (3) The changeover to state responsibility for calibrating and maintaining equipment used in continuous monitoring.

Approximately 20 persons attended the meeting which was open to the public in the air pollution board offices at 2301 Adams Street.

HURT ON 21ST ST. Patricia Cockrell, 27, of 2221 E. 21st St., suffered a bump to her head when her auto, turning from Edwardsville Road onto 21st Street, went out of control and went into a ditch at 8:50 p.m. Monday. She said the auto engine was beginning to stall, so she pushed the accelerator and the car lunged out of control. She was taken by a Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where she was admitted for observation.

Middle-aged, older workers' impact growing

According to a study prepared for the U.S. Department of Labor by the year 2000, Americans aged 35 to 54 will represent slightly more than half of the working age population, while those aged 20 to 34 will account for less than 35 percent.

This is considered a dramatic change from the current 45 percent participation rate for the 20 to 34 age group, according to the report, "Employment-Related Problems of Older Workers." A Research Strategy, (R & D Monograph No. 73). The report was prepared for the Employment and Training Administration by Dr. Harold L. Sheppard of the American Institutes for Research.

The study assesses available information regarding middle-aged and older workers and their job-related problems.

It examines the demographic changes likely to influence the size and characteristics of the older worker population in the last two decades of the 20th Century.

The report suggests that the labor force entry and employment problems of younger workers, severe in recent years, may recede in relative importance as the special difficulties of middle-aged and older workers move to the forefront of manpower policymakers and planners.

Official unemployment rates may obscure the "real" rate of older age groups, whose numbers include many discouraged workers and premature retirees.

Many of the retired population, especially those aged 60 to 69, would accept work if offered, or would seek work if convinced that they had a chance.

Duration of unemployment rates is an equally — if not more — sensitive measure of the problems of joblessness as experienced by different age groups.

The proportions of younger vs. older persons seeking year-round full-time employment are not comparable (i.e., many persons under 20 are seeking part-time or temporary work); and Relatively few of these younger persons are heads of families. Many, moreover, have middle-aged and older parents whose own job security could use strengthening.

CUTTING TOOLS TAKEN
A set of gauges for a cutting tool, about 100 feet of hose and a cutting head, all valued at about $100, were stolen from a torch cart at the WEPSCO plant, West 20th and Maple streets, between 5:30 p.m. Monday and 7:40 a.m. Tuesday. A mended portion of the chain-link fence damaged in a similar break-in about one year ago was opened to gain entry.

Fish are offered for ponds

The Madison County Soil and Water Conservation District will sponsor sale of fish for those wanting to stock their ponds.

They are pond-grown fish: channel catfish, 4-6 inches at 17 cents, 6-8 inches at 26 cents and 8-10 inches at 42 cents; hybrid bluegill, 1-2 inches at 16 cents each or $40 per bag of 250; and bass, 1-2 inches at 24 cents each or $12 per bag of 50. There is a minimum order of $15.

The catfish and bluegill will be delivered on May 7 and the bass will be delivered in June to the Soil Conservation Service building's parking lot on Old Alton Road in Edwardsville at 2 p.m.

Fish must be ordered in advance and District Chairman Virginia Smith requests early reservations. Since quantities are limited, Containers of pond water are needed for transporting the catfish, the bluegill and bass will be bagged. "Allow one gallon of water for each four to six fish," she suggested.

7th man arrested in race 'fixing' case

The Illinois State Police, Division of Criminal Investigation (DCI), has announced that a seventh man has been arrested in connection with an alleged attempt to "fix" the outcome of a triecta race Jan. 8 at Fairmount Park Race Track.

Hits parked cars

Percy Crenshaw, 46, of 212 Hampton St., Venice, was charged with reckless driving, having a revoked driver's license and criminal damage to property after his auto allegedly struck two parked autos and a city guardrail at Klein and Bissell streets in Venice at 7:55 p.m. Saturday.

Crenshaw was injured and was taken by a Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where he was admitted for severe cuts to his upper lip and abrasions to his right leg.

His auto allegedly struck the parked cars of Wiley Loney, 101 N. Bonker St., Eagle Park Acres, and Andy Crochrell, 81 Weaver St., before striking the guardrail in front of Crochrell's home.

REPORTS CAR THEFT

Daniel Wright, 2308 August St., told police at 2 a.m. Sunday that he had been beaten and robbed in the front yard of his home. He said there were six young men in his front yard and when he went outside to investigate, one of the men struck him, knocking him unconscious. When he awoke, the keys to his mother's car were gone and the auto had been stolen. The six returned with the car, gave him the keys back and walked away, he said. The auto was damaged and officers believe it had been in an hit-and-run accident. Wright suffered a cut to his mouth.

Two of the men arrested previously, Robert L. Phillips, 32, St. John's, Mich., and Richard S. Behler, 47, St. Louis, were arraigned Friday and pleaded innocent to the charges. Madison County Circuit Judge Victor J. Mosele set trial for the week of May 5.

Arraignments of three other men were continued. They are David J. Marshall, 36, White Lake, N.Y., and Leonard Greg Lance, 27, Belmont, Ill., both drivers, and Rodney A. Grady, 39, Gardiner, Maine, a trainer.

Vincent E. Proia, 23, Watertown, Mass., remains in his hometown free on bond, awaiting extradition to Illinois. A hearing is set for April 30. Proia is a licensed horse owner, DCI investigators said. He is charged with conspiracy to commit a corrupt act.

William Barrett, agent in charge of the DCI office in Fairview Heights, said the investigation into the attempted fix is continuing. He said the Jan. 8 attempt failed because one of the drivers in the race did not drive his horse to the position necessary for the correct triecta finish. In a triecta, a bettor must determine exactly which horses will finish first, second and third.

Announce sale sites for city auto tags

Granite City auto license tags will be sold Friday from 10 to 7 p.m. at the four banks here, and from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday at Cohen's Foods, 2301 Illinois Ave.

Deputies from the office of City Clerk Robert Stevens will be stationed at the special locations to handle the license sales. The wheel tax stickers went on sale at the clerk's office Monday.

Stevens said passenger car licenses will cost $3 each until May 15 when all vehicle license tags will increase by $2.50. Senior citizens may buy their passenger car tags for $1 at the Township Building, 2060 Delmar Ave., until the May 15 deadline when the price will become $5.50. Senior citizens must show a car registration and a driver's license and may purchase only one license for the reduced $1 fee.

The tags also will be sold at the four banks from 4 to 7 p.m. on April 25 and May 2, at National Food Store, Nameoki Road and Madison Avenue, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. on April 26, and at Schnuck's Market, Crossroads Plaza, during the same hours on May 3.

The tags also may be purchased at Stevens' office in the city hall from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily. Licenses for trucks will cost from $8 to $25 each in six categories until the May 15 deadline when each category will increase by $2.50.

Youth sought in attack on woman

A blond-haired youth described as between 18 and 20 years of age is being sought by Madison police following an incident Monday afternoon in which he attacked a 30-year-old Madison woman in the kitchen of her home in the 1700 block of Rhodes Street in Madison.

The woman told authorities that she admitted the youth to her home when he asked if he could use the phone. She was trying to locate a person supposed to live in the neighborhood, and asked if he could use the woman's telephone and the telephone directory.

She said she had seen the young man earlier at the home of a neighbor and that he appeared at her back door about 2:15 p.m. Monday.

After the youth entered the kitchen and she turned her back to him, he grabbed her about the waist and tried to throw her to the floor, she told officers. The woman struggled and the youth let her go and fled out the kitchen door, she related.

The woman said the young man did not molest her. He was of thin build and was wearing blue jeans, a red shirt and brown shoes, police were told.

Siren planned for Arlington

Installation of a tornado warning system to serve the Arlington Heights area and the Holiday Mobile Home Park should begin within two weeks, the Nameoki Town Board of Trustees was told Monday night.

The board approved an agreement with the Long Lake Fire Protection District in which the fire department will supply the electrical power to operate the system and the township will reimburse the department for its expenses.

Township Supervisor Harold Davis asked the board for permission to negotiate for the purchase of three homes in the Cloverleaf Addition. If acceptable prices can be agreed upon, the township plans to use Community Development grant funds to purchase the three houses and demolish them for a park.

A request by a resident of Eagle Park Acres for a lawn mower to maintain a park in that area was rejected by the board members, who noted all of the township's Community Development funds have been earmarked for other projects and no funds are available for a mower. The board agreed to rehire Irvin C. Slate Jr. as the board's attorney for this fiscal year.

The trustees also agreed to pay $847 to the Southwest Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission as the township's share of that agency's operating costs for 1980.

SWIMARPC coordinates planning and the preparation of grant applications throughout the area. A letter from Chouteau Supervisor Walter "Zack" Sparks asking all township boards to support pending legislation protecting townships from annexations was read and the Nameoki trustees indicated their support for the legislation.

One bid was received on the new truck. That bid, from Bo Beuckman Ford in Collinsville, was $5,568 for a truck now in stock or $5,487 to order a truck according to the township's specifications.

The board voted to table the only bid and consider rebidding it.

Arthur Theis, whose term as a trustee of the Long Lake Fire Protection District is expiring, was reappointed by the board.

Agreements with the township's highway department on funding for the environmental cleanup program and health projects were approved.

Highway Commissioner Frank Mehelec will receive $2,000 per month to continue the environmental cleanup program in which tree limbs and large trash items are picked up by township trucks.

Health projects will be funded by the board when presented by Mehelec and approved by the board members.

Davis announced that classes in cardio-pulmonary resuscitation (CPR) will be offered at the township hall for all township residents wishing to learn the method of saving lives in heart attack situations.

Dates for the classes will be scheduled on a first-come, first-served basis. Information on the classes may be obtained by calling the township at 931-1230. Davis said he hopes as many classes as can be scheduled as needed to train everyone who wants to take the course.
